French Premier Quits Before Scheduled Vote Of Confidence

Auriol Postpones Action Until Today

PARIS, Tuesday, Dec. 23 (AP) — Premier Antoine Pinay offered his coalition government's resignation early this morning, but President Vincent Auriol decided to postpone any action until later today.

The premier made his predawn trip to Auriol's Elysees Palace after dramatically announcing his intention to resign to the National Assembly about to ballot on three motions of confidence he had demanded.

Pinay's announcement came after one party belonging to the coalition—the powerful Catholic Popular Republican Movement (MRP)—had declared it would abstain on the confidence vote. This would have spelled almost certain defeat for Pinay's middle-of-the-road government.

Half-Hour Meeting

Pinay left the Elysees Palace at 2:23 a. m. (8:23 p. m. Monday, EST) after a half-hour meeting with the president.

Asked if Auriol had accepted or refused his resignation, he said the president would make his decision known later in the day after consulting several leading politicians.

Reliable informants said the president had asked Pinay to reconsider his decision.

Meanwhile, the Assembly resumed its interrupted session to vote on a motion that it should recess until summoned by the speaker, presumably after some solution to the present crisis could be found.

Budget Causes Crisis

The confidence vote had been expected to hinge on three specific points in Pinay's 1953 budget:

1. A proposal to transfer funds from a section of the social security administration which shows a surplus to another section showing a deficit.

2. Authorization for the government to impose its tax reforms by decree of Parliament had not voted on them by next June 1.

3. A proposal to increase by 25 per cent the existing duties on distilled alcohol.

John Roosevelt Visits Ike; Isn't Interested In Job

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—John Roosevelt, youngest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, called on President-elect Eisenhower today, termed his Cabinet apointments "wonderful," but said he isn't interested in a job for himself in the new administration.

Young Roosevelt left the ranks of the Democrats during the campaign and worked for election of Eisenhower. He said today, in reply to reporters' questions, that it was a reasonable assumption he had voted for the general.

Roosevelt said his visit was "purely and frankly social," and that he and the President-elect simply had talked over a few things which happened during the campaign.

Security Board Would Ease Atom Ban On Industry

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—The National Security Resources Board proposed today that the government give private industry a greater return on its work in the field of atomic power.

In a comprehensive report to President Truman on material resources policy, the board suggested that the Atomic Energy Act be amended to establish conditions under which industry could "operate commercially to benefit from their atomic power research, development and production."

It advocated setting out the conditions under which private interests could obtain patent rights to processes they have developed and obtain fissionable materials to carry on their work in commercial fields.

Private Ownership Banned

Under the present Atomic Energy Act, private ownership of facilities capable of producing fissionable materials in a practical way is prohibited. The act also prevents the Atomic Energy Commission from licensing civilian uses of atomic power until 90 days after a report to Congress, and gives the AEC the right to condemn any pertinent patent or invention.

"As the present security position of the United States is heavily dependent on atomic weapons, the margin of government atomic energy effort available for civilian programs is necessarily small," the resources board said.

Question Of Security

"Whether or not the Atomic Energy Commission could arrange more work on the development of electric-generating atomic plants without lessening security is a question closed to adequate discussion because of the necessary secrecy surrounding the pertinent facts."

The board's report is a review of recommendations made by the Materials Policy Commission to the President earlier this year. Twenty-two other federal agencies participated in the review and generally concurred in the report.

16 Japanese Killed, 370 Injured In Blast

NAGOYA, Japan, Tuesday, Dec. 23 (AP)—A great hydrogen explosion wrecked one of Japan's largest chemical plants Monday, and police said 16 workers were killed five missing and 370 injured, 70 seriously.

Stunned survivors said the blast and shock waves reminded them of wartime bombings.

So great was the force of the explosion that the concrete was striped away fro mthe steel framework of the new chemical fertilizer building of the TOA Synthetic Chemical Co.

Chunks of concrete flew through the air like giant hail, smashing in roofs and damaging homes and buildings for blocks around.

Kuchel Succeeds Nixon

Korea Veterans' Draft Term Cut

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, Jr., today announced a reduction in service for draftee veterans returning from Korea.

Pace said that effective Jan. 1 enlisted personnel inducted under the Universal Military Training and Service Act who arrive in the United States on rotation will be released if they have completed 20 or more months of active service in their current tour.

Earlier, the Army had announced that such personnel would become eligible for release after 21 months of active duty service, because of their Korean tour. The regular induction period is 24 months.

Pace said inductees returning from Korea after 20 or more months of service will be relieved from active duty and transferred to the reserve, unless they volunteer to remain on active duty.

Dan Dailey To Wed

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22 (AP)—Actor Dan Dailey disclosed today he plans to marry the estranged wife of Comic Keenan Wynn the first week in January.

Mrs. Wynn, the former Betty Jane Butler, has been separated from her husband for two years. She plans to obtain a Mexican divorce to clear the way for her marriage to Dailey.

Seven Inmates Flee Prison Through 200-Foot Tunnel

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Dec. 22 (AP)—Seven Washington State Prison inmates escaped today through a 200-foot tunnel and six hours later one of them was felled by a police bullet in Portland, Ore., 200 miles away.

The other six were still being sought.

The convicts crawled to freedom in the murky hours between 6 a. m. and 8 a. m. When they failed to answer the morning count the police of two states launched one of the biggest manhunts in the region's history.

Police made their first contact with the fugitives when two Portland patrolmen sighted an automobile stolen here this morning. The driver leaped out at a downtown intersection and the officers gave chase, firing two shots.

One struck the man, who proved to be Ralph Courser. He kept going until he ran into the arms of another patrolman. Courser was taken to a Portland hospital for treatment.

Deputy Warden Al Remboldt said the tunnel used in today's escape "must have been made by the handful." Believed the longest ever gophered out by prisoners, it started at an ashpit near the prison power house and ran north 200 feet to come up just outside the wall.

RESIGNS—Facing a no-confidence vote in the French National Assembly, Antoine Pinay (above) resigned last night as French premier. President Vincent Auriol postponed any action on the resignation until today.

U. N. Defers Any Korea Decision Until February

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 22 (AP)—U. N. delegates, wearied by the longest all-night meeting in United Nations history, recessed their Seventh General Assembly sessions today, leaving until late in February a decision on spelling out the next step in Korea.

Harried by the debate in which the Assembly threw out Russian propaganda charges that Communist prisoners in Korea had been massacred, the delegates slept most of the day. Many begin plane and ship trips home tonight and tomorrow.

Russia Rebuffed 45-5

Lester B. Pearson, Canada's foreign secretary and U. N. Assembly president, brought down his gavel on the session at 4:45 a. m., EST. This was after the delegates by a 45 to 5 roll call vote, turned down Russia's "midnight knock at the door" charges accusing U. S. military authorities of mass murders among communist prisoners on Pongam Island Dec. 14.

Only the Soviet bloc voted for the Russian demand that the U. S. be censured. Ten Asia-Arab countries abstained, among them India who authored the U. N. plan for a Korean armistice which was violently rejected by Russia and the Communist Chinese and North Koreans.

Gromyko Hurls Charges

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister and acting leader of the Soviet delegation, threw his charges into the U. N. early Sunday morning and demanded immediate debate on them by the Assembly.

Delegates, pushing for adjournment in time to get them home for Christmas, supported the U. S. stand in delaying the debate until the end of the regularly scheduled work program of an extraordinary Sunday session.

Early this morning, about 24 hours after Gromyko had submitted the charges, delegates began the debate answering the Russian.

The roll-call vote began after several delegates had laughed openly at the Russian charges, and in some cases accused the Russians of bringing the charges to cover up their own tracks in trying to prolong the Korean War.

Storms Delay Veterans

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (INS)—The Army said today that about 8,000 GIs enroute from overseas and scheduled to be discharged or reassigned before Christmas may be delayed at sea because of stormy weather.

Army Secretary Pace said the storms have caused delays of "several days."

Charges Katyn Massacre Set Korea Pattern

Would Hale Russia Before World Court

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP) — A special House inquiry committee today accused Soviet Russia of perpetrating the infamous Katyn Forest massacre in World War II and urged the new 83rd Congress to investigate alleged Communist atrocities in the Korean War.

The committee said the United States, acting through the United Nations, should initiate steps to have Russia arraigned before the International Court of Justice on charges of murdering 15,000 Polish Army officers and intellectuals at Katyn.

It said the Katyn episode set the pattern for "similar atrocities" committed against American and Allied soldiers in Korea.

Year-Long Investigation

The House group, headed by Rep. Ray J. Madden (D-Ind.), made it clear it was referring to reports of Korean atrocities first published more than a year ago.

At the Pentagon, officials said there have been no atrocity reports from Korea since the U. S. Eighth Army reported on Nov. 14, 1951, that Chinese and North Korean Communists had slaughtered about 5,500 American prisoners of war.

Capping a year-long investigation, the House committee summed up its findings in a report in which it also:

1. Called on the Defense Department to determine whether Maj. Gen. Clayton Bissell, former U. S. Army intelligence chief, should be court-martialed in connection with a long-suppressed "top secret" Army report on the Katyn massacre.

"Many, Many Katyns"

Bissell is now living in retirement at Signal Mountain, Tenn. He declined to comment until he has seen the House committee's report.

2. Urged the creation of an international commission to investigate Communist responsibility for "other mass murders and crimes against humanity."

Rep. Flood (D-Pa), a committee member, told newsmen the House group has turned up evidence there have been "many, many Katyns."

Specifically, Flood said there is reason to believe that 10,000 to 20,000 Russian civilians who resisted the Communists were slain in the Ukraine, Bessarabia and Carpathian Russia.

President-Elect Urges Spiritual Strength Buildup

NEW YORK, Dec. 22. (AP)—President-Elect Eisenhower said today if America is to be strong "we must be strong first in our spiritual convictions."

"And those convictions must be those that appeal to men," he added, as he discussed America-Soviet frictions in an address to the Freedoms Foundation.

"If we are going to win this fight," the general declared, "we are going to have to go back to the fundamentals. If we can be strong enough to sell ourselves this idea at home, we can win this idealogical war.

The foundation is dedicated to selling the American way of life. It annually makes awards for outstanding achievements in the field of Americanism. It is non-profit.

During the day, Eisenhower also talked over segregation with a group of Negro clergymen.

Eisenhower was quoted as telling the clergymen he wants to find out through a commission of his own what treatment minority groups get "in hotels, jobs, restaurants and so forth."

Anne Baxter Seeks Divorce From Hodiak

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22 (AP)—Anne Baxter filed suit today to divorce John Hodiak—and she wouldn't say whether her recent zippy publicity, including cigar-smoking, was in any way involved.

Her complaint to end the movie couple's six-year marriage made only the usual general charges of cruelty, mental anguish, and ill health.

It didn't detail their settlement dividing property and giving Anne custody of the Hodiaks' 18-month-old daughter, Katrina.

Prison Escapee Shot And Captured

New Stabilization Chief Urges Industry End Boycott Of WSB

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle took over today as economic stabilizer—for a four-week term—and announced he would try to get businessmen to end their boycott of the Wage Stabilization Board.

Interviewed on a radio program shortly after taking his oath of office, DiSalle said:

"I have sent letters to the president of the National Association of Manufacturers and the president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce asking them to nominate people for the board."

So far, there has been no indication of their attitude, he said, adding that he believed industry would participate in the board's operation "now that they've made their point."

Industry's "Responsibility"

"Industry should accept its responsibility," DiSalle commented.

The seven industry members of the WSB quit in protest at President Truman's granting John L. Lewis' coal miners a $1.90 a day pay boost after the board had recommended the salary hike be held to $1.50. Efforts since then to replace the members have failed and the wage control program has been delegated to a committee composed of the board's public members.

Under the old setup the board had equal representation of industry, union labor and the public.

In taking his oath, DiSalle said he would turn over a "going" controls program to President-elect Eisenhower—whether he wants it or not.

DiSalle To Write To Ike

In his radio interview DiSalle said the stabilization program would continue as at present and that price controls would be lifted wherever possible.

"I am going to be economic stabilizer just as if I were going to be economic stabilizer for some time to come"—rather than just until Jan. 20, DiSalle said.

He told his interviewers he planned to write a letter soon to Eisenhower offering his resignation as price stabilizer and giving some "thought on the stabilization program." DiSalle did not say what these thoughts would be.

Ingenious Bookie Trapped By Cops

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 22. (AP)—A trio of city policemen arrested an ingenious book-maker who wrote up the bets he took on the side of a house and then washed off the boards—and the evidence — after each race.

The man had built a little platform on the house adjacent to the Fairgrounds Race Track so he could see the races being run on the track.

Patrolman Louis Fernandez, Joseph Vattaglia and Joseph Vitari, Jr., placed themselves in a line of bettors waiting to place a bet and when one man placed a bet they announced the raid.

Patrolman Fernandez, without tally sheets or any of the other usual evidence possible, took the marked up boards off the house instead.

20 Dock Characters Arrested In Probe

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP) — A score of waterfront characters were arrested today and accused of faking payrolls to give gamblers and loan sharks access to the Brooklyn docks.

It was the second pier crackdown in two days and followed a week of hearings by the State Crime Commission into waterfront racketeering.

All 20 men, including four executives of the Atlantic Stevedoring Company, were held in bails up to $25,000 for trial Jan. 12. They pleaded innocent before Brooklyn Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz.

One Killed, 27 Injured In Bakelite Co. Blast

BOUND BROOK, N. J., Dec. 22 (INS)—One man was killed and 27 others were injured today when a dust explosion, followed by a fire, ripped through a four-story brick building at the sprawling Bakelite Company in Bound Brook.

The body of the single fatal victim, identified as Herman Ellis, 44, New Brunswick, N. J., was found tonight in the debris left by the blast.

Brodie Twins Unchanged

CHICAGO, Dec. 22 (AP) — The Brodie twins were in the fifth day of their separate lives today, and they showed neither gain nor loss.

The 15-month-old boys, who had been linked at the heads before their historic separation last Wednesday, passed their 114th hour of life as individuals at 2:30 p. m. C.S.T.

23 Skiers Die As Avalanche Wrecks Bus

VIENNA, Austria, Dec. 22 (AP) — An avalanche roaring down Austria's Arlberg Pass tonight smashed a busload of Christmas holiday skiers into an Alpine stream and killed 23 of the 31 passengers. Police said 13 of the dead were women.

The bus was crossing a bridge over the so-called "Patuer-Robel" gulley when the terrific air pressure generated by the snowslide hurled the big yellow vehicle into the stream 18 feet below and partly buried it under a mass of snow and rock, police said.

The skiers had just arrived at Langen in Western Austria aboard an express train, and were headed for the fashionable winter resort villages of Zuers, Lech and others in the area. Police said they believed most of the skiers were members of a British travel group.

Rescue workers rushed to the scene and removed the dead to the Church of St. Theresia in Langen. The injured—four of them in serious condition—were taken to hospitals in Langen and St. Anton.

The upper part of the Arlberg Pass in the Alps has been closed to motor traffic for some time because of the danger of avalanches. But the area where the bus tragedy occurred has been open for transporting skiers to the picturesque mountain villages.

UNC Admits Violation Of Truce Parley Site

TOKYO, Dec. 22 (AP)—The United Nations Command today admitted an air violation of the Panmunjom armistice conference site and was immediately presented with another Communist complaint that a U. N. shell has exploded in that neutral zone.

The U. N. note, written by Col. Charles W. McCarthy, senior liaison officer, confirmed that an Allied aircraft accidentally flew over the area Dec. 17, and expressed regret.

The new Red protest said the shelling took place at 12:10 a. m. Dec. 20.

Chaplin Target Of Vegetable And Fruit Barrage In Rome

The missiles flew out of a crowd of about 100 persons who lined the street in front of the Palazzo Sistina for the premier.

Most of them cheered and applauded as the gray-haired actor stepped from his car in front of the brilliantly lighted theater. But as he waved and smiled, apples, oranges, broccoli and cabbages flew out of the crowd.

Chaplin was struck several times in the body, but continued to smile and walked on into the theater.

Police took three men into custody.

An hour before the program was to start the elite of Rome and its international colony began to arrive.

President Luigi Einaudi and his wife arrived at the theater shortly after Chaplin, and did not see the incident.

The fruit and vegetable barrage was the first incident to mar the British-born actor's visit here. He came by air from Geneva Friday and until tonight had met nothing but cheers wherever he went. The walls of Rome have been covered with posters greeting the comedian.

Hundreds Still Await Rescue From Vessel

Ship Is Blown Onto Rocks Near Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Tuesday, Dec. 23 (AP)—The 12,546-ton French liner Champollion-reported cracked in half by a rocky reef—was held aground near Beirut early today as darkness delayed rescue of the hundreds of persons huddled on her split decks.

Only a thin rope and a searchlight beam connected the stricken ship to shore and safety a bit more than 500 yards away, as high winds and waves buffeted it.

A spokesman for Messageries Maritimes, owners of the ship, said there were 328 persons aboard—220 crew members and 108 pilgrims en route to the Holy Land for Christmas. Some of the passengers were reported to be Americans.

Thin Rope Secured To Shore

A spokesman for the Alexandria Navigation Company in Egypt had said earlier that 1,500 pilgrim passengers were aboard, but this was not borne out by reports direct from the scene.

Crewmen were trying frantically under winds of gale force in the predawn darkness to fix a strong rescue cable between the broken ship and the shore.

A thin manila rope—only an inch and a quarter in diameter—was finally secured to the shore as darkness descended last night. Earlier a cable that had been towed laboriously ashore by five sailors in one of the liner's own small boats broke and sank.

The sailors themselves were spilled into the rough seas when their boat overturned. They swam more than 200 yards to the shore. One member later said it seemed as if they had had to swim the "whole Mediterranean."

Ship Blown Onto Reef

An earlier report from Alexandria that a rescue tug with 200 of the passengers had capsized proved to be untrue.

The Champollion was blown onto the reef four miles south of Beirut about 2 a. m. after vainly battling gales which struck just north of Sidon.

The Champollion was so close to shore that it was doubtful whether any boat larger than a power launch could get alongside to remove passengers. Thus rescue operations appeared to depend either on a change of weather permitting use of these small craft or possible use of helicopters.

Eyewitnesses among the crowd of 500 gathered along the beach said the ship was split entirely in two. However, this appeared to help the situation since the two halves apparently leveled firmly on the bottom about 10 feet apart.

Allies Repulse Chinese Attacks

Allied defenders repulsed all assaults, an Eighth Army staff officer said.

The attacks flickered in short but sharp skirmishes near Korangpo in the west, near Little Nori Hill west of Yonchon, in the White Horse Mountain sector north of Yonchon, south of Pyonggang on the Central Front and west of the Mundung Valley in the east.

An Allied raider-patrol struck Chorwon last night and routed a force of 80 Chinese near T-Bone Hill.

Allied fighter bombers struck last night in clearing weather all across the peninsula. The night fliers estimated they destroyed 55 Communist trucks along winding roads leading towards the front.

U. S. Sabre jets shot down three Communist jets yesterday afternoon over Northwest Korea.

Harried by the debate in which the Assembly threw out Russian propaganda charges that Communist prisoners in Korea had been massacred, the delegates slept most of the day. Many begin plane and ship trips home tonight and tomorrow.

Russia Rebuffed 45-5

Lester B. Pearson, Canada's foreign secretary and U. N. Assembly president, brought down his gavel on the session at 4:45 a. m., EST. This was after the delegates by a 45 to 5 roll call vote, turned down Russia's "midnight knock at the door" charges accusing U. S. military authorities of mass murders among communist prisoners on Pongam Island Dec. 14.

Only the Soviet bloc voted for the Russian demand that the U. S. be censured. Ten Asia-Arab countries abstained, among them India who authored the U. N. plan for a Korean armistice which was violently rejected by Russia and the Communist Chinese and North Koreans.

Gromyko Hurls Charges

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister and acting leader of the Soviet delegation, threw his charges into the U. N. early Sunday morning and demanded immediate debate on them by the Assembly.

Delegates, pushing for adjournment in time to get them home for Christmas, supported the U. S. stand in delaying the debate until the end of the regularly scheduled work program of an extraordinary Sunday session.

Early this morning, about 24 hours after Gromyko had submitted the charges, delegates began the debate answering the Russian.

The roll-call vote began after several delegates had laughed openly at the Russian charges, and in some cases accused the Russians of bringing the charges to cover up their own tracks in trying to prolong the Korean War.

Storms Delay Veterans

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (INS)—The Army said today that about 8,000 GIs enroute from overseas and scheduled to be discharged or reassigned before Christmas may be delayed at sea because of stormy weather.

Army Secretary Pace said the storms have caused delays of "several days."

President-Elect Urges Spiritual Strength Buildup

NEW YORK, Dec. 22. (AP)—President-Elect Eisenhower said today if America is to be strong "we must be strong first in our spiritual convictions."

"And those convictions must be those that appeal to men," he added, as he discussed America-Soviet frictions in an address to the Freedoms Foundation.

"If we are going to win this fight," the general declared, "we are going to have to go back to the fundamentals. If we can be strong enough to sell ourselves this idea at home, we can win this idealogical war.

The foundation is dedicated to selling the American way of life. It annually makes awards for outstanding achievements in the field of Americanism. It is non-profit.

During the day, Eisenhower also talked over segregation with a group of Negro clergymen.

Eisenhower was quoted as telling the clergymen he wants to find out through a commission of his own what treatment minority groups get "in hotels, jobs, restaurants and so forth."

Anne Baxter Seeks Divorce From Hodiak

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22 (AP)—Anne Baxter filed suit today to divorce John Hodiak—and she wouldn't say whether her recent zippy publicity, including cigar-smoking, was in any way involved.

Her complaint to end the movie couple's six-year marriage made only the usual general charges of cruelty, mental anguish, and ill health.

It didn't detail their settlement dividing property and giving Anne custody of the Hodiaks' 18-month-old daughter, Katrina.

Prison Escapee Shot And Captured

New Stabilization Chief Urges Industry End Boycott Of WSB

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle took over today as economic stabilizer—for a four-week term—and announced he would try to get businessmen to end their boycott of the Wage Stabilization Board.

Interviewed on a radio program shortly after taking his oath of office, DiSalle said:

"I have sent letters to the president of the National Association of Manufacturers and the president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce asking them to nominate people for the board."

So far, there has been no indication of their attitude, he said, adding that he believed industry would participate in the board's operation "now that they've made their point."

Industry's "Responsibility"

"Industry should accept its responsibility," DiSalle commented.

The seven industry members of the WSB quit in protest at President Truman's granting John L. Lewis' coal miners a $1.90 a day pay boost after the board had recommended the salary hike be held to $1.50. Efforts since then to replace the members have failed and the wage control program has been delegated to a committee composed of the board's public members.

Under the old setup the board had equal representation of industry, union labor and the public.

In taking his oath, DiSalle said he would turn over a "going" controls program to President-elect Eisenhower—whether he wants it or not.

DiSalle To Write To Ike

In his radio interview DiSalle said the stabilization program would continue as at present and that price controls would be lifted wherever possible.

"I am going to be economic stabilizer just as if I were going to be economic stabilizer for some time to come"—rather than just until Jan. 20, DiSalle said.

He told his interviewers he planned to write a letter soon to Eisenhower offering his resignation as price stabilizer and giving some "thought on the stabilization program." DiSalle did not say what these thoughts would be.

Ingenious Bookie Trapped By Cops

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 22. (AP)—A trio of city policemen arrested an ingenious book-maker who wrote up the bets he took on the side of a house and then washed off the boards—and the evidence — after each race.

The man had built a little platform on the house adjacent to the Fairgrounds Race Track so he could see the races being run on the track.

Patrolman Louis Fernandez, Joseph Vattaglia and Joseph Vitari, Jr., placed themselves in a line of bettors waiting to place a bet and when one man placed a bet they announced the raid.

Patrolman Fernandez, without tally sheets or any of the other usual evidence possible, took the marked up boards off the house instead.

20 Dock Characters Arrested In Probe

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP) — A score of waterfront characters were arrested today and accused of faking payrolls to give gamblers and loan sharks access to the Brooklyn docks.

It was the second pier crackdown in two days and followed a week of hearings by the State Crime Commission into waterfront racketeering.

All 20 men, including four executives of the Atlantic Stevedoring Company, were held in bails up to $25,000 for trial Jan. 12. They pleaded innocent before Brooklyn Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz.

One Killed, 27 Injured In Bakelite Co. Blast

BOUND BROOK, N. J., Dec. 22 (INS)—One man was killed and 27 others were injured today when a dust explosion, followed by a fire, ripped through a four-story brick building at the sprawling Bakelite Company in Bound Brook.

The body of the single fatal victim, identified as Herman Ellis, 44, New Brunswick, N. J., was found tonight in the debris left by the blast.

Brodie Twins Unchanged

CHICAGO, Dec. 22 (AP) — The Brodie twins were in the fifth day of their separate lives today, and they showed neither gain nor loss.

The 15-month-old boys, who had been linked at the heads before their historic separation last Wednesday, passed their 114th hour of life as individuals at 2:30 p. m. C.S.T.

23 Skiers Die As Avalanche Wrecks Bus

VIENNA, Austria, Dec. 22 (AP) — An avalanche roaring down Austria's Arlberg Pass tonight smashed a busload of Christmas holiday skiers into an Alpine stream and killed 23 of the 31 passengers. Police said 13 of the dead were women.

The bus was crossing a bridge over the so-called "Patuer-Robel" gulley when the terrific air pressure generated by the snowslide hurled the big yellow vehicle into the stream 18 feet below and partly buried it under a mass of snow and rock, police said.

The skiers had just arrived at Langen in Western Austria aboard an express train, and were headed for the fashionable winter resort villages of Zuers, Lech and others in the area. Police said they believed most of the skiers were members of a British travel group.

Rescue workers rushed to the scene and removed the dead to the Church of St. Theresia in Langen. The injured—four of them in serious condition—were taken to hospitals in Langen and St. Anton.

The upper part of the Arlberg Pass in the Alps has been closed to motor traffic for some time because of the danger of avalanches. But the area where the bus tragedy occurred has been open for transporting skiers to the picturesque mountain villages.

UNC Admits Violation Of Truce Parley Site

TOKYO, Dec. 22 (AP)—The United Nations Command today admitted an air violation of the Panmunjom armistice conference site and was immediately presented with another Communist complaint that a U. N. shell has exploded in that neutral zone.

The U. N. note, written by Col. Charles W. McCarthy, senior liaison officer, confirmed that an Allied aircraft accidentally flew over the area Dec. 17, and expressed regret.

The new Red protest said the shelling took place at 12:10 a. m. Dec. 20.

Chaplin Target Of Vegetable And Fruit Barrage In Rome

The missiles flew out of a crowd of about 100 persons who lined the street in front of the Palazzo Sistina for the premier.

Most of them cheered and applauded as the gray-haired actor stepped from his car in front of the brilliantly lighted theater. But as he waved and smiled, apples, oranges, broccoli and cabbages flew out of the crowd.

Chaplin was struck several times in the body, but continued to smile and walked on into the theater.

Police took three men into custody.

An hour before the program was to start the elite of Rome and its international colony began to arrive.

President Luigi Einaudi and his wife arrived at the theater shortly after Chaplin, and did not see the incident.

The fruit and vegetable barrage was the first incident to mar the British-born actor's visit here. He came by air from Geneva Friday and until tonight had met nothing but cheers wherever he went. The walls of Rome have been covered with posters greeting the comedian.

Hundreds Still Await Rescue From Vessel

Ship Is Blown Onto Rocks Near Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Tuesday, Dec. 23 (AP)—The 12,546-ton French liner Champollion-reported cracked in half by a rocky reef—was held aground near Beirut early today as darkness delayed rescue of the hundreds of persons huddled on her split decks.

Only a thin rope and a searchlight beam connected the stricken ship to shore and safety a bit more than 500 yards away, as high winds and waves buffeted it.

A spokesman for Messageries Maritimes, owners of the ship, said there were 328 persons aboard—220 crew members and 108 pilgrims en route to the Holy Land for Christmas. Some of the passengers were reported to be Americans.

Thin Rope Secured To Shore

A spokesman for the Alexandria Navigation Company in Egypt had said earlier that 1,500 pilgrim passengers were aboard, but this was not borne out by reports direct from the scene.

Crewmen were trying frantically under winds of gale force in the predawn darkness to fix a strong rescue cable between the broken ship and the shore.

A thin manila rope—only an inch and a quarter in diameter—was finally secured to the shore as darkness descended last night. Earlier a cable that had been towed laboriously ashore by five sailors in one of the liner's own small boats broke and sank.

The sailors themselves were spilled into the rough seas when their boat overturned. They swam more than 200 yards to the shore. One member later said it seemed as if they had had to swim the "whole Mediterranean."

Ship Blown Onto Reef

An earlier report from Alexandria that a rescue tug with 200 of the passengers had capsized proved to be untrue.

The Champollion was blown onto the reef four miles south of Beirut about 2 a. m. after vainly battling gales which struck just north of Sidon.

The Champollion was so close to shore that it was doubtful whether any boat larger than a power launch could get alongside to remove passengers. Thus rescue operations appeared to depend either on a change of weather permitting use of these small craft or possible use of helicopters.

Eyewitnesses among the crowd of 500 gathered along the beach said the ship was split entirely in two. However, this appeared to help the situation since the two halves apparently leveled firmly on the bottom about 10 feet apart.

Allies Repulse Chinese Attacks

Allied defenders repulsed all assaults, an Eighth Army staff officer said.

The attacks flickered in short but sharp skirmishes near Korangpo in the west, near Little Nori Hill west of Yonchon, in the White Horse Mountain sector north of Yonchon, south of Pyonggang on the Central Front and west of the Mundung Valley in the east.

An Allied raider-patrol struck Chorwon last night and routed a force of 80 Chinese near T-Bone Hill.

Allied fighter bombers struck last night in clearing weather all across the peninsula. The night fliers estimated they destroyed 55 Communist trucks along winding roads leading towards the front.

U. S. Sabre jets shot down three Communist jets yesterday afternoon over Northwest Korea.

Adenauer Sees EDC's Approval

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer came out today against the existence of any national armies in Europe and predicted that the six-nation European Defense Community would soon be ratified.

Adenauer's confidence in the EDC—not yet approved by any of the prospective members—was expressed on Dec. 9, a day when the German government and the Supreme Court appeared deadlocked on the issue. Some of the legal difficulties have since been overcome. Adenauer's opinions were given in an interview with Kurt Lachmann, Central Europe editor for "U. S. News and World Report," a Washington news magazine which published it today in a copyrighted article.

Adenauer said he was against a German national army, first because Germany could not make the weapons it needs, and second because he believes there should be no more national armies in Europe.

Red POW Shot To Death

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 23 (AP) — The Army today said a prisoner of war was fatally shot on Koje Island Sunday "while attempting to organize clandestine meetings."

Plan To Get Wife Back Boomerangs

CHICAGO, Dec. 22 (AP)—The man who didn't come to dinner must pay the check, anyway.

For a while, Edward Petrocki, 42, took his estranged wife to dinner a couple of times a week in hopes of a reconciliation. Then he stopped the dates.

Today, Circuit Judge Maurice Schultz ordered Petrocki to increase by $25 his monthly allotment of $140 he pays his wife, Carol, for separate maintenance.

Judge Schultz figured the cost of the meals at $25 monthly and said Carol was entitled to either the food or the money.

New Cut In Regional OPS Staffs Ordered

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 22 (AP) — The Office of Price Stabilization today announced another big reduction in personnel at its offices in the region embracing Virginia, North Carolina, Maryland, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

W. F. Bailey, regional director, said 68 employes will receive dismissal notices this week.

The cut is in compliance with a directive from OPS headquarters in Washington ordering regional and district staffs trimmed. The order is designed to enable the price control agency to keep within its operating budget.

ICC Freight Rate Powers Boosted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP) — The Supreme Court today gave the Interstate Commerce Commission broader powers to regulate railroad freight rates within a state.

Dividing 6-3, the court ruled for the first time that the ICC may give weight to losses in interstate passenger operations in ordering higher intrastate freight rates.

Justice Douglas, who wrote a dissenting opinion in which Chief Justice Vinson joined, called the action unprecedented and "an unwarranted step" in enlarging the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In another action today the court ruled 8-1 that courses of conduct, rather than multiplicity of individual acts, must be listed by the government in complaints against employes under the Fair Labor Standards (wage-hour) Act.

This decision upheld the action of U. S. District Judge Albert A. Ridge in dismissing all but three counts of a 32-count information filed by the government against the Universal C. I. T. Credit Corp., Kansas City, Mo. Judge Ridge let stand one count for each section of the act alleged to have been violated.

Board Probes Plane Crash Fatal To 86

MOSES LAKE, Wash., Dec. 22 (AP)—A 35-man investigating board spent most of today at the barren, wreckage-cluttered scene of Saturday's disastrous crash of a giant "Christmas special" aerial transport.

The death list in the C-124 crash remained at 86. Several of the 30 survivors were in critical condition in widely scattered military hospitals. Most of the victims had been homebound for their Christmas leaves.

Announced identifications of the dead passed the 50 mark. The grim and difficult task of checking dental work and other evidence continued while chaplains expressed determination to "do our best against overwhelming odds to maintain the Christmas spirit here."

U. S. Due To Step Up Plane-Buying Abroad

PARIS, Dec. 22 (AP)—Informed officials reported here today an American plan to spend nearly 500 million dollars by 1955 for top quality British and European jet fighter planes.

About 225 millions has been approved by the U. S. Congress under the billion dollar off-shore buying program set for the 12 months ending next June. The balance is expected under the U. S. 1953-54 foreign aid appropriations.

Main supplying nations will be Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and The Netherlands in that order.

Italy Has 11 Divisions

CASERTA, Italy, Dec. 22 (AP) — Defense Minister Randolfo Pacciardi said today Italy now has 11 of the 15 divisions it would mobilize in event of war.

Pacciardi did not elaborate, but a defense ministry spokesman in Rome said the 11 divisions are at full strength and fully equipped.

Congress Can Cut Taxes 8½ Billion By Sitting Still

WASHINGTON—(AP)—All Congress has to do to accomplish an 8½ billion dollar yearly tax cut in the next 15 months is just sit still.

The figures are provided by the Joint Senate-House Committee on the Economic Report, surveying the effect of cut-off dates written into the law the last time taxes were raised.

The estimates, however, do not take account of an offsetting levy increase of $1,300,000,000 or so, which also will come about automatically if Congress lets a scheduled security rate boost go through.

The reductions, effective if Congress does not take new action, will range from reduced income taxes and abolition of the excess profits tax on business, to fewer pennies on a pack of cigarets, a tank of gasoline or a drink over the bar.

The lawmakers could extend any of the taxes due to expire or drop to lower rates. They could add new taxes, or make further reductions. It all depends on the revenue requests of the incoming administration and Congress' own tax temperature.

The Joint Committee on the Economic Report is made up of senators and representatives. It carries out general economic studies for Congress. The report on scheduled revenue losses—or taxpayers' gains—was prepared by the committee's staff.

Almost all the reductions will result from provisions in the Revenue Act of 1951, which raised tax rates all along the line to foot defense built-up costs after fighting broke out in Korea.

However, on Jan. 1, 1954 the tax rate for social security benefits is scheduled to go up from the present 1½ per cent each from employers and employes to two per cent each.

Additionally, import taxes on copper, zinc, lead and some metal scrap—suspended to increase supplies during the materials crisis of the defense buildup—will go back into effect at various dates in the next six months unless Congress takes new action.

The committee staff report, however, confined itself to revenue losses from four major tax reductions scheduled to take effect from July 1, 1953 through April 1, 1954.

These are the excess profits tax on corporations, expiring June 30, 1953; the increased individual income tax rate, expiring Dec. 31, 1953; the increased normal corporation tax rate, expiring March 31, 1954, and a number of excise taxes, mostly ending or falling back to lower rates after March 31, 1954.

The report estimated that in the fiscal year 1954 these reductions will amount to $2,200,000,000. Fiscal 1954 begins next July 1, and ends June 30, 1954. All the major changes thus fall within that 12 months, but none will show up then as a full year's revenue loss.

The committee staff made its estimates on the assumption of continued high level employment and productivity, and continued economic expansion.

In the first full year when all the major revenue losses take effect, the report said:

1. Returns from individual income taxes will drop by three billion dollars. The Revenue Act of 1951 raised individual income tax rates from a range of 17 to 88 per cent to a range of 19.2 to 89 per cent. The old lower rates go back into effect Jan. 1, 1954.

2. The excess profits tax revenue loss will be 2½ billion dollars. Congress adopted this complicated tax Jan. 3, 1951. It adds to the surtax corporations pay on income over $25,000. Corporations whose fiscal year ends June 30, 1953, will not have to pay the new tax on excess profits after that date. Corporations with fiscal years straddling this date will pay according to a schedule based on the amount of their fiscal year that falls before the cut-off date.

3. Reduced corporation taxes will cut revenues by two billion dollars. Until March 31, 1954, corporations pay a normal tax of 30 per cent on their income, plus a surtax of 22 per cent on income exceeding $25,000. The surtax will remain unchanged, but the normal tax rate will drop back to 25 per cent beginning April 1, 1954. Here, too, the corporation will pay in accordance with the way the cut-off date fits into its fiscal year.

4. The following main excise tax changes will account for a one billion dollar revenue loss, mostly beginning with April 1, 1954:

Alcoholic beverages—The tax on distilled spirits will drop back to the old rate of $9 a gallon, from $10.50. The tax on fermented malt liquors will return to $8 a barrel, from $9. The taxes on wines will also fall back, depending on the type of wine and alcoholic content.

The tax on passenger autos and motorcycles will go back to seven per cent on April 1, 1954, from the defense rate of ten per cent. There will also be reductions for other types of vehicles, and for parts.

Also on April 1, 1954, the tax on cigarets will return to seven cents a standard pack from the present eight cents.

Congress Can Cut Taxes 8½ Billion By Sitting Still

WASHINGTON—(AP)—All Congress has to do to accomplish an 8½ billion dollar yearly tax cut in the next 15 months is just sit still.

The figures are provided by the Joint Senate-House Committee on the Economic Report, surveying the effect of cut-off dates written into the law the last time taxes were raised.

The estimates, however, do not take account of an offsetting levy increase of $1,300,000,000 or so, which also will come about automatically if Congress lets a scheduled security rate boost go through.

The reductions, effective if Congress does not take new action, will range from reduced income taxes and abolition of the excess profits tax on business, to fewer pennies on a pack of cigarets, a tank of gasoline or a drink over the bar.

The lawmakers could extend any of the taxes due to expire or drop to lower rates. They could add new taxes, or make further reductions. It all depends on the revenue requests of the incoming admininistration and Congress' own tax temperature.

The Joint Committee on the Economic Report is made up of senators and representatives. It carries out general economic studies for Congress. The report on scheduled revenue losses—or taxpayers' gains—was prepared by the committee's staff.

Almost all the reductions will result from provisions in the Revenue Act of 1951, which raised tax rates all along the line to foot defense built-up costs after fighting broke out in Korea.

However, on Jan. 1, 1954 the tax rate for social security benefits is scheduled to go up from the present 1½ per cent each from employers and employes to two per cent each.

Additionally, import taxes on copper, zinc, lead and some metal scrap—suspended to increase supplies during the materials crisis of the defense buildup—will go back into effect at various dates in the next six months unless Congress takes new action.

The committee staff report, however, confined itself to revenue losses from four major tax reductions scheduled to take effect from July 1, 1953 through April 1, 1954.

These are the excess profits tax on corporations, expiring June 30, 1953; the increased individual income tax rate, expiring Dec. 31, 1953; the increased normal corporation tax rate, expiring March 31, 1954, and a number of excise taxes, mostly ending or falling back to lower rates after March 31, 1954.

The report estimated that in the fiscal year 1954 these reductions will amount to $2,200,000,000. Fiscal 1954 begins next July 1, and ends June 30, 1954. All the major changes thus fall within that 12 months, but none will show up then as a full year's revenue loss.

The committee staff made its estimates on the assumption of continued high level employment and productivity, and continued economic expansion.

In the first full year when all the major revenue losses take effect, the report said:

1. Returns from individual income taxes will drop by three billion dollars. The Revenue Act of 1951 raised individual income tax rates from a range of 17 to 88 per cent to a range of 19.2 to 89 per cent. The old lower rates go back into effect Jan. 1, 1954.

2. The excess profits tax revenue loss will be 2½ billion dollars. Congress adopted this complicated tax Jan. 3, 1951. It adds to the surtax corporations pay on income over $25,000. Corporations whose fiscal year ends June 30, 1953, will not have to pay the new tax on excess profits after that date. Corporations with fiscal years straddling this date will pay according to a schedule based on the amount of their fiscal year that falls before the cut-off date.

3. Reduced corporation taxes will cut revenues by two billion dollars. Until March 31, 1954, corporations pay a normal tax of 30 per cent on their income, plus a surtax of 22 per cent on income exceeding $25,000. The surtax will remain unchanged, but the normal tax rate will drop back to 25 per cent beginning April 1, 1954. Here, too, the corporation will pay in accordance with the way the cut-off date fits into its fiscal year.

4. The following main excise tax changes will account for a one billion dollar revenue loss, mostly beginning with April 1, 1954:

More Construction In Offing

More steel and copper will be available after January 1 for office buildings, schools, hospitals, public buildings, public utilities, public transportation facilities, other building except for industrial plants under a new order of the National Production Authority. "Adequate" amounts of steel and copper will be allowed for private homes and apartment houses. After May 1, more aluminum will be made available.

Construction bans—in effect since October 1950—are to be lifted on recreational and entertainment projects such as theaters, swimming pools, bowling alleys, race tracks.

Builders at the same time were cheered by the prospect that the Eisenhower administration in general will prove more friendly than the Truman regime to business. The National Association of Home Builders has put forward the name of its own president, Alan Brockbank, for federal Housing and Home Finance Agency administrator. Also mentioned for the post are Charles P. Taft, brother of the senator, and Ralph Cake of Oregon, a former president of the U. S. Savings and Loan League.

New construction increased substantially in November, continuing an upward trend begun in September, according to government estimates of seasonally adjusted activity. Private non-farm residential construction rose for the fifth consecutive month, and was 13 per cent above the level of November 1951.

In the first nine months of this year, 866,800 new homes were started—slightly more than in the first nine months of 1951. Total housing starts are running at an annual rate of 1,091,000, about the same as last year. This despite a slash in new housing units in the early months of 1952 caused by shortages of strategic materials that cut the annual rate temporarily to 600,000 units.

Firm prices for moderately priced homes and the availability of advantageous mortgage financing are favorable to private building. Thus the trend of the market runs parallel with the expressed desires of Congress and the predictable interests of the new administration—with the number of private units a building, even in special defense areas, far exceeding the number of public housing starts.

The Housing Act of 1949 authorized construction of 135,000 public housing units a year over a period of six years. On the ground that labor and materials were scarce and the government could not afford the full program, Congress in 1951 voted only 50,000 units. This year the number authorized was only 35,000 units —less than half the 75,000 units requested by President Truman.

CAA On "Saucers"

Radar, that marvel of electronics, has a weakness not unknown to man. It "sees" flying saucers where none exists. And what's more, it can on occasion be led astray by hot air.

This is the solemn finding of the august Civil Aeronautics Administration. Seems that images of what appeared to be flying saucers last summer cluttered radar screens at several CAA airport control towers. The government agency determined to investigate, not that it was concerned as to the possible existence of supersonic peeping toms from Mars or some other planet.

Trouble was the strange radar images raised hob with air traffic control. For instance, controllers following the orderly progress of a couple of Constellations would get confused, not to say exasperated, to spot, quite suddenly, an unknown target on the screen from a flight definitely not cleared by Airways Traffic Control.

"Concerned with the possible detrimental effects on air traffic control," CAA ordered its Technical Development and Evaluation Center to investigate. The findings now are public.

An accusing finger is pointed at the meteorological non sequitur known as a temperature inversion in which hot air is found over cold, whereas, as every schoolboy knows, air normally becomes progressively colder from the ground up.

An inversion, CAA explains, allows dissimilar air to scrape above the earth, thus creating eddies. Radar beams normally speed through the air in nothing flat and never return to the scope unless they bounce from something solid like an airplane or rain cloud.

But atmospheric eddies are tricky, CAA reports. They bend radar beams back to earth, creating the illusion of flying saucers on otherwise responsible radar screens.

CAA, though, is one government agency not to be caught on a limb jutting out to interstellar space. The agency adds it still "recognizes the need for securing additional evidence on the problem, through observations with more versatile equipment."

So it appears another report, another explanation of flying saucers, may be forthcoming. Buck Rogers fans, though, will just have to be patient.

Can Vest Come Back?

Having previously announced that the vest is out as a part of man's attire clothing manufacturers may be forced to reconsider the matter with the forthcoming change in administrations. No less an important member of the cabinet than John Foster Dulles wears a vest, and this may set a precedent for a comeback for the third garment in men's clothing.

Passing of the vest has been generally mourned by businessmen who never have too many pockets anyway, and the announcement that it is finished did not come as good news.

The double-breasted suit was largely responsible for putting the vest out of business. It became a hidden garment, so what was the need of wearing something that didn't show? Manufacturers say it added at least 10 per cent to the price of a suit, and that just about put finishing touches to a garment that could be done without.

But the vest was in vogue for many years. It is credited to Charles II of England, who first made it popular. But what King Charles wore was not a vest as now understood, but a long robe on which he probably displayed his medals. Gradually the garment was shortened for convenience in wearing, and now it is threatened with extinction.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

Viruses: Animal, Vegetable, Or Mineral

The flu virus belongs to a family of organisms that have baffled and intrigued the medical profession for many years. These viruses are responsible for poliomyelitis, smallpox, yellow fever, and the common cold as well as for a number of animal diseases such as hog cholera, fowlpox, and foot and mouth disease. In the vegetable world they lead to tobacco mosaic and curlytop sugar beets.

At the turn of the century medical research was directed toward finding the cause of infections, or "catching" disease. The first milestone was passed when scientists found that living microbes were the causative agents of many of these ailments. In other words, they had been fighting all these years an unseen enemy that lived in a world all its own and could be seen only thru the eyes of the microscope.

Meanwhile chemists, in their field, discovered molecules, particles so tiny they make bacteria look like mountains. These inert substances are about 1 millionth of an inch in size and the most minute bacteria are 10 times bigger than the largest molecule. But what does this have to do with viruses? These forms are halfway between the two extremes; smaller than bacteria but larger than molecules. Are viruses dead or alive? No one knows. As a result, some physicians refer to them as chemicals and others as living organisms. In this respect it might be possible to stump the research workers on 20 questions, asking them to determine whether the virus is animal, vegetable, or mineral.

At any rate, research on viruses is taking precedence today as bacterial infections are fairly well understood and some are under control. Much study is devoted to the flu virus and attempts are being made to offer protection against these organisms. The most common offenders are the A and B viruses and the vaccines now available are specific in their action. Those that protect against A will not protect against B, A prime, or C. To be all-inclusive, they must contain the protective antibodies against all varieties. Most of our vaccines now contain A and B and in the future others will be added as the technic will allow. Because the usual flu serums do not act immediately, to be effective they must be used a week or two in advance of a possible epidemic. Under this arrangement it becomes imperative to recognize the type of flu virus that is responsible for a particular outbreak.

A novel method of early detection was reported recently by Dr. G. O. Broun and colleagues from St. Louis. Last year they obtained bottles of pooled blood serum that had been collected from patients admitted each week to five hospitals. The serum was examined for the antibodies of the 10 strains of flu virus. At the same time, specimens were collected from individuals who were convalescing from respiratory infections suspected of being of influenzal origin. For several months, there was no definite trend but in February, 1952, a moderate increase in respiratory infections was noted by the health department. This trend was picked up in the laboratory also; suddenly there was a well marked rise in the number of antibodies of type B virus. As the incidence of the disease subsided, so did the laboratory findings. This is an example in which laboratory workers were able to obtain valuable information for the practicing physician. If an epidemic had been in the making, it might have been possible to predict the causative agent.

Guess Who's Guessing Now!

DREW PEARSON on

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

New Navy Secretary Is One Of Biggest Farmers In The World And Has One Of Softest Hearts; Langer Is Probed By His Own Committee

WASHINGTON — Bob Anderson of Vernon, Texas, who takes over the job of riding herd on the admirals as secretary of the Navy next January, has ridden herd on thousands of cattle as one of the biggest farmers in the world.

He is manager of the 570,000-acre Waggoner ranch in Northern Texas, second largest in the United States, where he runs a farming operation which makes an Easterner rub his eyes in bewilderment. There, during the shipping season, entire freight trains back into his railroad siding to carry steers to big city markets. There, also, maverick cattle, if they have to be driven too far, are lassoed, tied, and carried by jeep. One of the most modern farmers in the world, Anderson converts his alfalfa into pellets so as not to waste stems and leafage when cattle eat it, and each day he sends a sample of pellets to St. Louis to be tested for moisture content.

Nothing is left to chance on the Waggoner ranch — except possibly cowboy luck. Modern as it is, the ranch still uses cowboys; in fact, finds them indispensable. Cowboys use six horses each in the winter when the horses are fed grain, and 14 to 16 horses each in the summer when they forage for themselves. One cowboy will sometimes wear out two or three horses a day.

The new secretary of the Navy got acquainted with Eisenhower through Ike's Texas friend, Sid Richardson. One day, Speaker Sam Rayburn, Anderson, and Richardson were riding together when someone asked Anderson how much he got when he sold his calves. He replied 41 cents.

"Forty-one cents" exclaimed Rayburn. "Who would be fool enough to pay that much?".

Anderson replied that the buyer was Howell Smith.

"What" roared Richardson. "He's my partner and brother-in-law! You mean to say that he paid 41 cents a pound for calves!"

Since the Waggoner ranch had produced about 7,500 calves, the deal involved over a million dollars.

Soft-Hearted Secretary

Horses, steers, and alfalfa seem a long way from battleships and submarines, but Bob Anderson's chief know-how is in handling men. He has handled some tough characters on the Waggoner ranch. But one day during a board of directors meeting, Anderson received a message, excused himself, came back later to say that a town character, "Rabbit" Nye, who had lived in a shack by the river, had just died.

Knowing the old man had almost nothing in the world, Anderson took time off to arrange for his funeral. And at the funeral services, almost no one was present except the minister and the manager of the second largest ranch in the United States—now secretary of the Navy.

Investigating a Senator

Langer doesn't know it, but he's being investigated by the committee he is supposed to head next month. Agents of the Senate Judiciary Committee are secretly prying into the private bills he has introduced, looking for possible subversives whom Langer may have helped.

This is part of a backstage plot to unseat the hard-hitting senator from North Dakota and prevent him from taking over the powerful Judiciary Committee. Reason is that Langer's too independent to suit the Republican regulars, who want to keep this important committee in the hands of a dyed-in-the-wool regular—Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan, who is next in line.

Many times in the past Langer has demonstrated that he won't take GOP orders. He has bolted to the Democrats any time he thinks his own party is wrong. He also committed the unforgivable political sin of riding across North Dakota on President Truman's campaign train, once even introducing the Democratic candidate who was running against him for the Senate.

These are hardly grounds for expelling Langer from the Senate, so the GOP bosses are looking for stronger ammunition. To this end, a Judiciary Committee investigator has been thumbing through Langer's private bills on the chance the big-hearted North Dakotan may accidentally have aided a pro-Communist.

Always quick to sympathize with a hard-luck story, Langer has introduced hundreds of bills to help out hardship cases, particularly aliens. For example, he drafted a special bill to allow 18 Estonians to stay in this country. They had broken out from behind the iron curtain and drifted for 92 days in a small, crowded ship to get to America and escape communism. Under our laws, they would have been deported immediately — but Langer intervened and saved them.

Kind-Hearted Senator

The Catholic Welfare Board also came to Langer with the story of a young mother, who had been brought to this country when she was only six years old but had never been naturalized. She gave birth to an illegitimate baby, and when she tried to force the father, a policeman, to support the child, he moved to deport her. Under the law, an alien guilty of moral turpi-

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Politics And The Press

I recently attended a meeting of the Yale Political Union Intercollegiate Forum where I heard M. R. Werner deliver a poignant address on the handling of political news in daily newspapers during the recent campaign. Mr. Werner was a supporter of Adlai Stevenson and his general theme was that while the country enjoyed a two-party system, it enjoyed a one-party press.

Mr. Werner cited examples, principally but not exclusively from the New York City press, to show that Stevenson had not been treated fairly, that by editorials, news slanting, the disposition of space and pictures, Eisenhower had all the advantage.

As I thought it over at leisure, it occurred to me that there are many other sides to that story. Newspapers are not conveyor belts. They have many forms and always have had since the "Spectator" days of Addison and Steele and in this country since John Peter Zenger. The newspapers of Greeley, Bennett, Pulitzer, Raymond, Hearst, and other great figures were personal journals that conveyed the views of their owners with a partisanhip altogether unknown today.

If the ownership of a newspaper is to be altogether without views, opinions and decisions, the editorial page should disappear altogether. If the proprietors are to hold no views, why have a variety of newspapers? Why not have one newspaper in each city, one press service for the country supervised by the government?

On the other hand, the reader had a right to expect Stevenson's speeches covered as fully as Eisenhower's, and they probably were in the leading newspapers. I have not made such a study as Mr. Werner has, but Stevenson, who was hardly known to most Americans prior to his nomination, has gained a national reputation as one of the best orators this country has produced. He could not have such a reputation were his speeches not printed in newspapers.

Most American newspapers publish columnists who pick up the role of argumentative writing discarded by some editors. Even in cities which have only one newspaper, columnists of varying views are published. Stevenson had more support than Eisenhower among the columnists. It is true that many writers who feel that their reputations depend upon never being wrong, are now covering their tracks by being excessively pro-Eisenhower, but during the campaign, the columnists divided up and the newspapers were able to present both sides in this manner. It is a fallacy to assume that any judgment can be made of newspaper coverage without due regard to the columnists.

After any campaign, there are post mortems. As a Republican, I have lived through them for 20 years. Most of them are wrong. Those of us who were opposed to Roosevelt and Truman used to explain our failures in many ways; yet, we never quite were willing to recognize the simple truth that the American people actually wanted Roosevelt and that nothing we said or proved changed their minds. It may be a discouraging admission for those who are so wise as we are, but the fact does stand as so. Furthermore, the reason that many Americans failed to vote during the Roosevelt years, was that many could not get themselves to vote for Roosevelt or against him.

Even in those years, there was criticism of the American press for being so wrong about Roosevelt. But the press was not wrong. It is not the function of the press to be on the winning or even the popular side. If it were, all the press would need to do would be to gauge public opinion and act accordingly like an actor in vaudeville who changes a joke to conform to the tastes of a particular audience. Some of the greatest men have said the right things at the wrong time and got hissed for it.

For instance, William Jennings Bryan ran three times for the Presidency and was defeated each time; he was secretary of State under Woodrow Wilson and was ridiculed for his efforts. Yet, his entire program, including the 16 to 1 ratio between silver and gold, was adopted in due course, with some dire results. The man failed but his ideas persisted.

Newspapers and newspaper men that court popularity by revising their ideas to meet the ebb and flow of public fashion lose their value as instruments of leadership even if temporarily they may gain in popularity. A free press fights for what it believes to be right.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The member of the British Labor party, who got up in the House of Commons the other day and said that the United States was a nice nation but so very young and "immature" to be exercising world leadership, did not happen to know it perhaps, but that's the Communist "line" nowadays which is designed to intensify friction between Britain and America.

The Soviet Union has come to rely on some members of the British Labor party, particularly the extreme left wing, to belittle American policies and to maintain a sharp division of opinion, especially on Far Eastern matters. Moscow knows there isn't much likelihood of a stern American policy in Korea as long as the British, by their lukewarm attitude, keep the UN dragging at the heels.

The unhappy truth is that the United States has been forced into a position of world leadership, reluctantly and most unwillingly, as a direct consequence of the decline of the British position in Europe. Many Americans would be delighted to see their troops and their navy permanently withdrawn from the historic British "spheres of influence" if the British only had an army and a fleet big enough to do the job.

Britain Refused To Go Along

The most striking example of the effects of Britains loss of prestige in the world occurred recently in the Mediterranean. Not being able to maintatin a navy of adequate size as in previous years, the British have nevertheless insisted on being awarded the privilege of choosing a high British naval officer to be commander of the Allied navies in the Mediterranean. This was impracticable, of course, from an operating standpoint but so strong was the British insistence on such a setup that for many months now a deadlock on the question has persisted. First, an American naval officer became commander of all the Greek, Italian, Turkish and French naval units in the Mediterranean, and together with the United States naval forces this constituted the Mediterranean fleet of the Allies. The British, however, refused to join the group command and it was Winston Churchill, prime minister, who kept urging a combined fleet under a British admiral. The Greek, Italian, Turkish and French forces preferred to be commanded by an American admiral because the latest types of ships and aircraft carriers are in the United States Navy. But London stood firmly against the plan, and British naval forces have operated for months now as a separate command.

The situation has just been completely reversed to please the British and give them all the prestige possible that goes with the command of an Allied Mediterranean fleet. The latter comprises Greek, Italian, French, Turkish and British naval forces, and Admiral Mountbatten of the British navy is the commander-in-chief, but the U. S. Fleet in that area operates as an independent unit because it is larger than all the other naval forces put together.

It is true that Admiral Mountbatten reports directly to Admiral Carney, USN, the commander-in-chief of Allied forces in Southern Europe, just as does Admiral Cassady of the U. S. fleet in the Mediterranean. But Admiral Carney, in turn, reports to General Ridgway, supreme commander-in-chief of Allied forces in Europe. This Mediterranean line of command thus goes back first to an American naval officer and then to an American who is supreme commander in Europe.

Would Help U. S.

This clumsy arrangement would not be tolerated one day if large-scale war broke out but it is one way to bolster British prestige in the Mediterranean. If the British Labor party could only champion the cause of naval expansion so that Britain could again police its own waters, and the Mediterranean as well, the American people would be delighted to see their own budgetary expenses curtailed.

So far as leadership in the world is concerned America would not be exercising it today if the supposedly "mature" leadership of Great Britain under Sir Edward Gray in 1914, just before World War I started, and under Prime Minister Chamberlain in Munich in 1938, just before World War II, hadn't faltered and developed a situation into which America has been twice plunged so as to save Europe.

Mistakes in policy made by experienced diplomats sometimes breed situations which the so-called "immature" nations find it necessary to salvage with heavy losses of manpower and money. Those who make the biggest sacrifices must assume the responsibility of leadership and this leadership can succeed if our junior partners in the alliance will only forget superiority complexes that grow out of past history and concentrate on making the present-day alliance strong enough to convince Russia she cannot count on a split between Britain and America.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

EISENHOWER HEADQUARTERS, New York

The relationship between those powerful figures, President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft, will profoundly affect the future. Here in this temporary capital of the United States, it is possible to piece together a fairly coherent Taft-Eisenhower story. In this story, a period of sweetness and light is regularly followed by a period of explosion or threatened explosion.

The first sweetness and light period was ushered in by the famous campaign-time conference at Morningside Heights. Taft was naturally delighted by this meeting, and assumed that he would henceforth play a decisive role in Eisenhower's policy-making. Immediately after the meeting, Taft sat down and wrote out in longhand on lined yellow paper a draft of what Eisenhower should say at his forthcoming important speech on labor to the AFL. This he confidently forwarded to Eisenhower.

Eisenhower, meanwhile, had been genuinely surprised and indignant when the Morningside Heights meeting was pictured as a "surrender" to Sen. Taft. Moreover, he had been developing some firm views of his own on labor policy. Thus, when Eisenhower delivered his speech, it was Taft's turn to be indignant. No shadow of Taft's carefully written draft remained.

This almost caused an explosion, but Taft was persuaded to hold his peace until the election. After Eisenhower's triumph, Taft met Eisenhower again. Taft's primary object was to obtain Eisenhower's promise that he would not call a labor-management conference to amond the Taft-Hartley Act, but would leave this job up to Taft's Senate Labor Committee. Eisenhower readily agreed. According to Taft's interpretation, Eisenhower also agreed with Taft's fiscal policy, involving an immediate reduction in government spending to $70 billion, with a further cut to $60 billion next year. Taft was happy, and again all was sweetness and light.

Became Eisenhower Man

Then Eisenhower assigned Herbert Brownell, upon whom he had come to rely heavily during the campaign, to handle appointments, and the milk of human kindness soon began to curdle. This looked to Taft—and not only to Taft—like another "surrender," this time to Taft's old enemy, Thomas E. Dewey; actually, after his brief meeting with Eisenhower in Georgia, Dewey has had virtually no contact with the Eisenhower camp, and Brownell himself quickly became an "Eisenhower man," rather than a "Dewey man."

Yet the fact remained that Brownell had masterminded the dashing of Taft's dearest hopes twice hand-running. Moreover, experienced as Brownell is in other ways, he has had no experience in soothing touchey senatorial sensibilities. When Brownell failed to consult Taft on the appointment as Treasury secretary of George Humphrey, a former Taft supporter from Taft's own state, this seemed the insult direct (although in fact it was a simple oversight) and the famous Taft temper began to simmer. It boiled higher with the appomtment of Sinclair Weeks, whom Taft regards as an apostate, as Commerce Secretary, and it boiled right over with the Durkin appointment.

This open explosion introduced a new phase, by inducing the Eisenhower camp to examine again what is called "the Taft problem" in these parts. The vital question of the Senate majority leadership was now to the fore. One school of Eisenhower advisers favored quietly blocking Taft's bid for the leadership, on the grounds that otherwise a really disastrous explosion was ultimately inevitable.

Another school took the line that "if you can't convert 'em, get 'em to join you." Taft, it was argued, was a party man to the marrow of his bones. He would therefore go along with the program of a Republican President, whatever his private doubts. This school was strengthened when it became known in New York that other senators besides Taft, including strong Eisenhower supporters, were in a rebellious mood. Taft was not the only senator who had not been consulted about appointments, and it was widely felt that Brownell's tight grip on appointments and patronage challenged senatorial perogatives.

Ike Will Be Leader

Eisenhower himself, moreover, is strongly and perhaps wisely disinclined to interfere in Senate matters. So it become known that Eisenhower had no objections to Taft as Senate leader. This was universally interpreted as a green light for Taft, and all opposition to his candidacy instantly crumbled (much to the chagrin of Sen. Styles Bridges who, despite his protestations of indifference, wanted the Senate leadership so badly he could almost taste it.) At any rate, another period of sweetness and light is now presumably in prospect. But will it last?

From what has already happened it is clear that Eisenhower, while anxious to find common ground with Taft, is also determined to be very much master in his own house, the leader rather than the led. It is equally clear that Taft is in no mood to hand over his cherished position as "Mr. Republican" to another, even to a Republican President. Like all human relationships, the relationship between these two strong-willed men is complex and unpredictable. But it is certainly very possible that another explosive period may come. And the explosion, if it comes, is likely to be generated by the money problem, a problem which has a way of generating explosions.

The kind of spending reductions

More Construction In Offing

More steel and copper will be available after January 1 for office buildings, schools, hospitals, public buildings, public utilities, public transportation facilities, other building except for industrial plants under a new order of the National Production Authority. "Adequate" amounts of steel and copper will be allowed for private homes and apartment houses. After May 1, more aluminum will be made available.

Construction bans—in effect since October 1950—are to be lifted on recreational and entertainment projects such as theaters, swimming pools, bowling alleys, race tracks.

Builders at the same time were cheered by the prospect that the Eisenhower administration in general will prove more friendly than the Truman regime to business. The National Association of Home Builders has put forward the name of its own president, Alan Brockbank, for federal Housing and Home Finance Agency administrator. Also mentioned for the post are Charles P. Taft, brother of the senator, and Ralph Cake of Oregon, a former president of the U. S. Savings and Loan League.

New construction increased substantially in November, continuing an upward trend begun in September, according to government estimates of seasonally adjusted activity. Private non-farm residential construction rose for the fifth consecutive month, and was 13 per cent above the level of November 1951.

In the first nine months of this year, 866,800 new homes were started—slightly more than in the first nine months of 1951. Total housing starts are running at an annual rate of 1,091,000, about the same as last year. This despite a slash in new housing units in the early months of 1952 caused by shortages of strategic materials that cut the annual rate temporarily to 600,000 units.

Firm prices for moderately priced homes and the availability of advantageous mortgage financing are favorable to private building. Thus the trend of the market runs parallel with the expressed desires of Congress and the predictable interests of the new administration—with the number of private units a building, even in special defense areas, far exceeding the number of public housing starts.

The Housing Act of 1949 authorized construction of 135,000 public housing units a year over a period of six years. On the ground that labor and materials were scarce and the government could not afford the full program, Congress in 1951 voted only 50,000 units. This year the number authorized was only 35,000 units —less than half the 75,000 units requested by President Truman.

CAA On "Saucers"

Radar, that marvel of electronics, has a weakness not unknown to man. It "sees" flying saucers where none exists. And what's more, it can on occasion be led astray by hot air.

This is the solemn finding of the august Civil Aeronautics Administration. Seems that images of what appeared to be flying saucers last summer cluttered radar screens at several CAA airport control towers. The government agency determined to investigate, not that it was concerned as to the possible existence of supersonic peeping toms from Mars or some other planet.

Trouble was the strange radar images raised hob with air traffic control. For instance, controllers following the orderly progress of a couple of Constellations would get confused, not to say exasperated, to spot, quite suddenly, an unknown target on the screen from a filght definitely not cleared by Airways Traffic Control.

"Concerned with the possible detrimental effects on air traffic control," CAA ordered its Technical Development and Evaluation Center to investigate. The findings now are public.

An accusing finger is pointed at the meteorological non sequitur known as a temperature inversion in which hot air is found over cold, whereas, as every schoolboy knows, air normally becomes progressively colder from the ground up.

An inversion, CAA explains, allows dissimilar air to scrape above the earth, thus creating eddies. Radar beams normally speed through the air in nothing flat and never return to the scope unless they bounce from something solid like an airplane or rain cloud.

But atmospheric eddies are tricky, CAA reports. They bend radar beams back to earth, creating the illusion of flying saucers on otherwise responsible radar screens.

CAA, though, is one government agency not to be caught on a limb jutting out to interstellar space. The agency adds it still "recognizes the need for securing additional evidence on the problem, through observations with more versatile equipment."

So it appears another report, another explanation of flying saucers, may be forthcoming. Buck Rogers fans, though, will just have to be patient.

Can Vest Come Back?

Having previously announced that the vest is out as a part of man's attire clothing manufacturers may be forced to reconsider the matter with the forthcoming change in administrations. No less an important member of the cabinet than John Foster Dulles wears a vest, and this may set a precedent for a comeback for the third garment in men's clothing.

Passing of the vest has been generally mourned by businessmen who never have too many pockets anyway, and the announcement that it is finished did not come as good news.

The double-breasted suit was largely responsible for putting the vest out of business. It became a hidden garment, so what was the need of wearing something that didn't show? Manufacturers say it added at least 10 per cent to the price of a suit, and that just about put finishing touches to a garment that could be done without.

But the vest was in vogue for many years. It is credited to Charles II of England, who first made it popular. But what King Charles wore was not a vest as now understood, but a long robe on which he probably displayed his medals. Gradually the garment was shortened for convenience in wearing, and now it is threatened with extinction.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Viruses: Animal, Vegetable, Or Mineral

The flu virus belongs to a family of organisms that have baffled and intrigued the medical profession for many years. These viruses are responsible for poliomyelitis, smallpox, yellow fever, and the common cold as well as for a number of animal diseases such as hog cholera, fowlpox, and foot and mouth disease. In the vegetable world they lead to tobacco mosaic and curlytop sugar beets.

At the turn of the century medical research was directed toward finding the cause of infections, or "catching" disease. The first milestone was passed when scientists found that living microbes were the causative agents of many of these ailments. In other words, they had been fighting all these years an unseen enemy that lived in a world all its own and could be seen only thru the eyes of the microscope.

Meanwhile chemists, in their field, discovered molecules, particles so tiny they make bacteria look like mountains. These inert substances are about 1 millionth of an inch in size and the most minute bacteria are 10 times bigger than the largest molecule. But what does this have to do with viruses? These forms are halfway between the two extremes; smaller than bacteria but larger than molecules. Are viruses dead or alive? No one knows. As a result, some physicians refer to them as chemicals and others as living organisms. In this respect it might be possible to stump the research workers on 20 questions, asking them to determine whether the virus is animal, vegetable, or mineral.

At any rate, research on viruses is taking precedence today as bacterial infections are fairly well understood and some are under control. Much study is devoted to the flu virus and attempts are being made to offer protection against these organisms. The most common offenders are the A and B viruses and the vaccines now available are specific in their action. Those that protect against A will not protect against B, A prime, or C. To be all-inclusive, they must contain the protective antibodies against all varieties. Most of our vaccines now contain A and B and in the future others will be added as the technic will allow. Because the usual flu serums do not act immediately, to be effective they must be used a week or two in advance of a possible epidemic. Under this arrangement it becomes imperative to recognize the type of flu virus that is responsible for a particular outbreak.

A novel method of early detection was reported recently by Dr. G. O. Broun and colleagues from St. Louis. Last year they obtained bottles of pooled blood serum that had been collected from patients admitted each week to five hospitals. The serum was examined for the antibodies of the 10 strains of flu virus. At the same time, specimens were collected from individuals who were convalescing from respiratory infections suspected of being of influenzal origin. For several months, there was no definite trend but in February, 1952, a moderate increase in respiratory infections was noted by the health department. This trend was picked up in the laboratory also; suddenly there was a well marked rise in the number of antibodies of type B virus. As the incidence of the disease subsided, so did the laboratory findings. This is an example in which laboratory workers were able to obtain valuable information for the practicing physician. If an epidemic had been in the making, it might have been possible to predict the causative agent.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

New Navy Secretary Is One Of Biggest Farmers In The World And Has One Of Softest Hearts; Langer Is Probed By His Own Committee

WASHINGTON — Bob Anderson of Vernon, Texas, who takes over the job of riding herd on the admirals as secretary of the Navy next January, has ridden herd on thousands of cattle as one of the biggest farmers in the world.

He is manager of the 570,000-acre Waggoner ranch in Northern Texas, second largest in the United States, where he runs a farming operation which makes an Easterner rub his eyes in bewilderment. There, during the shipping season, entire freight trains back into his railroad siding to carry steers to big city markets. There, also, maverick cattle, if they have to be driven too far, are lassoed, tied, and carried by jeep. One of the most modern farmers in the world, Anderson converts his alfalfa into pellets so as not to waste stems and leafage when cattle eat it, and each day he sends a sample of pellets to St. Louis to be tested for moisture content.

Nothing is left to chance on the Waggoner ranch — except possibly cowboy luck. Modern as it is, the ranch still uses cowboys; in fact, finds them indispensable. Cowboys use six horses each in the winter when the horses are fed grain, and 14 to 16 horses each in the summer when they forage for themselves. One cowboy will sometimes wear out two or three horses a day.

The new secretary of the Navy got acquainted with Eisenhower through Ike's Texas friend, Sid Richardson. One day, Speaker Sam Rayburn, Anderson, and Richardson were riding together when someone asked Anderson how much he got when he sold his calves. He replied 41 cents.

"Forty-one cents" exclaimed Rayburn. "Who would be fool enough to pay that much?".

Anderson replied that the buyer was Howell Smith.

"What" roared Richardson. "He's my partner and brother-in-law! You mean to say that he paid 41 cents a pound for calves!"

Since the Waggoner ranch had produced about 7,500 calves, the deal involved over a million dollars.

Soft-Hearted Secretary

Horses, steers, and alfalfa seem a long way from battleships and submarines, but Bob Anderson's chief know-how is in handling men. He has handled some tough characters on the Waggoner ranch. But one day during a board of directors meeting, Anderson received a message, excused himself, came back later to say that a town character, "Rabbit" Nye, who had lived in a shack by the river, had just died.

Knowing the old man had almost nothing in the world, Anderson took time off to arrange for his funeral. And at the funeral services, almost no one was present except the minister and the manager of the second largest ranch in the United States—now secretary of the Navy.

Investigating a Senator

Langer doesn't know it, but he's being investigated by the committee he is supposed to head next month. Agents of the Senate Judiciary Committee are secretly prying into the private bills he has introduced, looking for possible subversives whom Langer may have helped.

This is part of a backstage plot to unseat the hard-hitting senator from North Dakota and prevent him from taking over the powerful Judiciary Committee. Reason is that Langer's too independent to suit the Republican regulars, who want to keep this important committee in the hands of a dyed-in-the-wool regular—Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan, who is next in line.

Many times in the past Langer has demonstrated that he won't take GOP orders. He has bolted to the Democrats any time he thinks his own party is wrong. He also committed the unforgivable political sin of riding across North Dakota on President Truman's campaign train, once even introducing the Democratic candidate who was running against him for the Senate.

These are hardly grounds for expelling Langer from the Senate, so the GOP bosses are looking for stronger ammunition. To this end, a Judiciary Committee investigator has been thumbing through Langer's private bills on the chance the big-hearted North Dakotan may accidentally have aided a pro-Communist.

Always quick to sympathize with a hard-luck story, Langer has introduced hundreds of bills to help out hardship cases, particularly aliens. For example, he drafted a special bill to allow 18 Estonians to stay in this country. They had broken out from behind the iron curtain and drifted for 92 days in a small, crowded ship to get to America and escape communism. Under our laws, they would have been deported immediately — but Langer intervened and saved them.

Kind-Hearted Senator

The Catholic Welfare Board also came to Langer with the story of a young mother, who had been brought to this country when she was only six years old but had never been naturalized. She gave birth to an illegitimate baby, and when she tried to force the father, a policeman, to support the child, he moved to deport her. Under the law, an alien guilty of moral turpi-

Politics And The Press

I recently attended a meeting of the Yale Political Union Intercollegiate Forum where I heard M. R. Werner deliver a poignant address on the handling of political news in daily newspapers during the recent campaign. Mr. Werner was a supporter of Adlai Stevenson and his general theme was that while the country enjoyed a two-party system, it enjoyed a one-party press.

Mr. Werner cited examples, principally but not exclusively from the New York City press, to show that Stevenson had not been treated fairly, that by editorials, news slanting, the disposition of space and pictures, Eisenhower had all the advantage.

As I thought it over at leisure, it occurred to me that there are many other sides to that story. Newspapers are not conveyor belts. They have many forms and always have had since the "Spectator" days of Addison and Steele and in this country since John Peter Zenger. The newspapers of Greeley, Bennett, Pulitzer, Raymond, Hearst, and other great figures were personal journals that conveyed the views of their owners with a partisanhip altogether unknown today.

If the ownership of a newspaper is to be altogether without views, opinions and decisions, the editorial page should disappear altogether. If the proprietors are to hold no views, why have a variety of newspapers? Why not have one newspaper in each city, one press service for the country supervised by the government?

On the other hand, the reader had a right to expect Stevenson's speeches covered as fully as Eisenhower's, and they probably were in the leading newspapers. I have not made such a study as Mr. Werner has, but Stevenson, who was hardly known to most Americans prior to his nomination, has gained a national reputation as one of the best orators this country has produced. He could not have such a reputation were his speeches not printed in newspapers.

Most American newspapers publish columnists who pick up the role of argumentative writing discarded by some editors. Even in cities which have only one newspaper, columnists of varying views are published. Stevenson had more support than Eisenhower among the columnists. It is true that many writers who feel that their reputations depend upon never being wrong, are now covering their tracks by being excessively pro-Eisenhower, but during the campaign, the columnists divided up and the newspapers were able to present both sides in this manner. It is a fallacy to assume that any judgment can be made of newspaper coverage without due regard to the columnists.

After any campaign, there are post mortems. As a Republican, I have lived through them for 20 years. Most of them are wrong. Those of us who were opposed to Roosevelt and Truman used to explain our failures in many ways; yet, we never quite were willing to recognize the simple truth that the American people actually wanted Roosevelt and that nothing we said or proved changed their minds. It may be a discouraging admission for those who are so wise as we are, but the fact does stand as so. Furthermore, the reason that many Americans failed to vote during the Roosevelt years, was that many could not get themselves to vote for Roosevelt or against him.

Even in those years, there was criticism of the American press for being so wrong about Roosevelt. But the press was not wrong. It is not the function of the press to be on the winning or even the popular side. If it were, all the press would need to do would be to gauge public opinion and act accordingly like an actor in vaudeville who changes a joke to conform to the tastes of a particular audience. Some of the greatest men have said the right things at the wrong time and got hissed for it.

For instance, William Jennings Bryan ran three times for the Presidency and was defeated each time; he was secretary of State under Woodrow Wilson and was ridiculed for his efforts. Yet, his entire program, including the 16 to 1 ratio between silver and gold, was adopted in due course, with some dire results. The man failed but his ideas persisted.

Newspapers and newspaper men that court popularity by revising their ideas to meet the ebb and flow of public fashion lose their value as instruments of leadership even if temporarily they may gain in popularity. A free press fights for what it believes to be right.

The Greek, Italian, Turkish and French forces preferred to be commanded by an American admiral because the latest types of ships and aircraft carriers are in the United States Navy. But London stood firmly against the plan, and British naval forces have operated for months now as a separate command.

The situation has just been completely reversed to please the British and give them all the prestige possible that goes with the command of an Allied Mediterranean fleet. The latter comprises Greek, Italian, French, Turkish and British naval forces, and Admiral Mountbatten of the British navy is the commander-in-chief, but the U. S. Fleet in that area operates as an independent unit because it is larger than all the other naval forces put together.

It is true that Admiral Mountbatten reports directly to Admiral Carney, USN, the commander-in-chief of Allied forces in Southern Europe, just as does Admiral Cassady of the U. S. fleet in the Mediterranean. But Admiral Carney, in turn, reports to General Ridgway, supreme commander-in-chief of Allied forces in Europe. This Mediterranean line of command thus goes back first to an American naval officer and then to an American who is supreme commander in Europe.

Would Help U. S.

This clumsy arrangement would not be tolerated one day if large-scale war broke out but it is one way to bolster British prestige in the Mediterranean. If the British Labor party could only champion the cause of naval expansion so that Britain could again police its own waters, and the Mediterranean as well, the American people would be delighted to see their own budgetary expenses curtailed.

So far as leadership in the world is concerned America would not be exercising it today if the supposedly "mature" leadership of Great Britain under Sir Edward Gray in 1914, just before World War I started, and under Prime Minister Chamberlain in Munich in 1938, just before World War II, hadn't faltered and developed a situation into which America has been twice plunged so as to save Europe.

Mistakes in policy made by experienced diplomats sometimes breed situations which the so-called "immature" nations find it necessary to salvage with heavy losses of manpower and money. Those who make the biggest sacrifices must assume the responsibility of leadership and this leadership can succeed if our junior partners in the alliance will only forget superiority complexes that grow out of past history and concentrate on making the present-day alliance strong enough to convince Russia she cannot count on a split between Britain and America.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

EISENHOWER HEADQUARTERS, New York

The relationship between those powerful figures, President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft, will profoundly affect the future. Here in this temporary capital of the United States, it is possible to piece together a fairly coherent Taft-Eisenhower story. In this story, a period of sweetness and light is regularly followed by a period of explosion or threatened explosion.

The first sweetness and light period was ushered in by the famous campaign-time conference at Morningside Heights. Taft was naturally delighted by this meeting, and assumed that he would henceforth play a decisive role in Eisenhower's policy-making. Immediately after the meeting, Taft sat down and wrote out in longhand on lined yellow paper a draft of what Eisenhower should say at his forthcoming important speech on labor to the AFL. This he confidently forwarded to Eisenhower.

Eisenhower, meanwhile, had been genuinely surprised and indignant when the Morningside Heights meeting was pictured as a "surrender" to Sen. Taft. Moreover, he had been developing some firm views of his own on labor policy. Thus, when Eisenhower delivered his speech, it was Taft's turn to be indignant. No shadow of Taft's carefully written draft remained.

This almost caused an explosion, but Taft was persuaded to hold his peace until the election. After Eisenhower's triumph, Taft met Eisenhower again. Taft's primary object was to obtain Eisenhower's promise that he would not call a labor-management conference to amond the Taft-Hartley Act, but would leave this job up to Taft's Senate Labor Committee. Eisenhower readily agreed. According to Taft's interpretation, Eisenhower also agreed with Taft's fiscal policy, involving an immediate reduction in government spending to $70 billion, with a further cut to $60 billion next year. Taft was happy, and again all was sweetness and light.

Became Eisenhower Man

Then Eisenhower assigned Herbert Brownell, upon whom he had come to rely heavily during the campaign, to handle appointments, and the milk of human kindness soon began to curdle. This looked to Taft—and not only to Taft—like another "surrender," this time to Taft's old enemy, Thomas E. Dewey; actually, after his brief meeting with Eisenhower in Georgia, Dewey has had virtually no contact with the Eisenhower camp, and Brownell himself quickly became an "Eisenhower man," rather than a "Dewey man."

Yet the fact remained that Brownell had masterminded the dashing of Taft's dearest hopes twice hand-running. Moreover, experienced as Brownell is in other ways, he has had no experience in soothing touchey senatorial sensibilities. When Brownell failed to consult Taft on the appointment as Treasury secretary of George Humphrey, a former Taft supporter from Taft's own state, this seemed the insult direct (although in fact it was a simple oversight) and the famous Taft temper began to simmer. It boiled higher with the appomtment of Sinclair Weeks, whom Taft regards as an apostate, as Commerce Secretary, and it boiled right over with the Durkin appointment.

This open explosion introduced a new phase, by inducing the Eisenhower camp to examine again what is called "the Taft problem" in these parts. The vital question of the Senate majority leadership was now to the fore. One school of Eisenhower advisers favored quietly blocking Taft's bid for the leadership, on the grounds that otherwise a really disastrous explosion was ultimately inevitable.

Another school took the line that "if you can't convert 'em, get 'em to join you." Taft, it was argued, was a party man to the marrow of his bones. He would therefore go along with the program of a Republican President, whatever his private doubts. This school was strengthened when it became known in New York that other senators besides Taft, including strong Eisenhower supporters, were in a rebellious mood. Taft was not the only senator who had not been consulted about appointments, and it was widely felt that Brownell's tight grip on appointments and patronage challenged senatorial perogatives.

Ike Will Be Leader

Eisenhower himself, moreover, is strongly and perhaps wisely disinclined to interfere in Senate matters. So it become known that Eisenhower had no objections to Taft as Senate leader. This was universally interpreted as a green light for Taft, and all opposition to his candidacy instantly crumbled (much to the chagrin of Sen. Styles Bridges who, despite his protestations of indifference, wanted the Senate leadership so badly he could almost taste it.) At any rate, another period of sweetness and light is now presumably in prospect. But will it last?

From what has already happened it is clear that Eisenhower, while anxious to find common ground with Taft, is also determined to be very much master in his own house, the leader rather than the led. It is equally clear that Taft is in no mood to hand over his cherished position as "Mr. Republican" to another, even to a Republican President. Like all human relationships, the relationship between these two strong-willed men is complex and unpredictable. But it is certainly very possible that another explosive period may come. And the explosion, if it comes, is likely to be generated by the money problem, a problem which has a way of generating explosions.

The kind of spending reductions

Here are glamorizing ways to give a fresh, new fillip to your wardrobe for the holiday season!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Riding up in a crowded elevator the other day, I heard one girl say to another, "I wish I had something super and new for the holidays . . . but I'm fresh out of money."

A gentleman doesn't accost strange gals in such places, but I wished that I might have told her about some of the tricks the models use to change what is at hand into new and enchanting effects.

Inspired Party Effects

Here's one of their tricks with a pair of plain, dark dress pumps that will turn all eyes on you with admiration when you climb the ladder to place your contribution at the tree-trimming party. Simply wrap the heels smoothly with the thinest, brightest red or green metal foil that you can find and top them with your starchiest dark dress. You'll look like a very special Christmas angel!

The same dark dress or any basic you may have will become a glittery frame for your personality on Christmas day just by lavishly tying tinsel in bracelet fashion around your wrists. Another, equally enchanting measure is to tack the tinsel to an elastic cinch belt.

Do you own a stole or shawl? Beribbon it and you can spark any costume for indoor doings. The gayest effect is produced by collecting five wide satin ribbons —two or three inches wide—all in the same bright color or each in different holiday hues, and tying them in a showy bunch near one end of your shoulder warmer.

Your gadabout outfit, no matter what your destination, will immediately take on a special-for-the-occasion air the moment you slip in to snow-white fabric gloves to which you have pinned at the wrist or cuff one small sprig of spruce tied with a candy-striped ribbon bow.

Vie With The Tree

On party nights, let your imagination lead into inventiveness. A dark after-five frock will take on glow the moment that a cluster of tiny, fake poinsettias and real evergreen is tucked into its belt. Just ring a velvet juliet cap with minute tree balls and watch your gown and you glimmer, shimmer and simmer.

Don't let the lack of the price of a new costume keep your spirits asunder. Let the season inspire your looks. Trim yourself with the special adornments of the season. You'll vie with the tree, sparkle more than the moonlit snow—you'll be the special treat of the holidays!

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tree Sale Continues

Officers of the Cumberland Lions Club last night said the organization still has many trees left from its annual Christmas tree sale held over the weekend.

They said the sale will continue today at the Fort Hill High School Stadium. Proceeds from the club's annual tree sale will go to the aid of blind children and the organization's eyeglass fund.

Mary Jane Horner Becomes Bride Of Harry Louis Moore

Miss Mary Jane Horner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Horner, Sr., Hyndman, Pa., became the bride of Pvt. Harry Louis Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Moore, Hyndman, December 17.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in the Bedford Road Methodist Church with Rev. T. Roscoe Hall officiating. Mr. and Mrs. William P. Moore, State College, Pa., brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were their attendants.

The bride was attired in a pale blue, two piece, street length dress, with which she wore a white hat and white accessories. Completing her costume, she carried a white Bible topped with a natural orchid.

Her matron of honor had a Navy blue taffeta dress with gold accessories and carried a nosegay of rosebuds.

Mrs. Horner chose a green dress with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. With it she wore a corsage of yellow pompons. Mrs. Moore selected a Navy blue costume and corsage of white pompons.

The bride is a graduate of Hyndman High School, class of 1948, where she was a member of the school band, and of Catherman's Business School. She is secretary in the Employment department of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Hyndman High School, class of 1948, Potomac State, Keyser, 1950 and received his Bachelor degree in agriculture economics from Penn State in 1952. He enlisted July 4 in Officer Candidate School and is stationed at Fort Knox, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Horner entertained the bridal party and immediate families at a reception at their home following the ceremony. The bridal motif was carried out in the decorations and four tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For their wedding trip to New York City the bride wore a Navy blue suit with Navy accessories and her orchid corsage. The bride will reside at the home of her parents while the bridegroom is at Fort Knox.

Mrs. Lawrence Alvin Clopper, Jr.

Loyce Ann Snapp Is Bride Of Lawrence A. Clopper, Jr.

Miss Loyce Ann Snapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Desmond Snapp, 100 Greenmount Avenue, Hagerstown, became the bride of Lawrence Alvin Clopper, Jr., son of Lawrence Alvin Clopper, Sr., Washington Street, city, and the late Mrs. Helen Clopper, December 21.

The candlelight wedding ceremony was solemnized at 4:30 p. m., in St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethren Church, with Rev. F. Berry Plummer, D. D., officiating. The church was decorated with vases of white pompons against northern spruce and candelabra of lighted tapers.

Miss Doris Clopper, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant, while Mr. Clopper served as his son's best man. The ushers were Charles Huyett, Hagerstown; and Gerald Effland, Martinsburg. Mrs. David Imke was organist. She played "I Love Thee," "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," "O Perfect Love," "Thine Alone," and at the benediction, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace. Its snug fitted basque waist, smoothed up to the throat and finished with a petal turned down collar. The long sleeves tapered to a point on the hand and her waist was pointed down over the bouffant skirt with satin and net underskirt, and slight train. Her fingertip length veil was crowned with a matching lace Juliette cap adorned with seed pearls. Completing her costume she carried a prayerbook with white orchid and shower of satin streamers.

Her maid of honor's gown was of peacock blue designed with a full skirt of nylon net over which fitted a snug waistlength jacket of matching bengaline. Her headdress was of matching gathered net. She carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds,

The bride's mother chose a navy and black irridescent taffeta afternoon frock with black and pink accessories for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's stepmother was attired in a brown and gold metallic taffeta with matching accessories. Both had a corsage of pink camillas.

The bride is a graduate of Hagerstown High School, class of 1949 and Washington County Hospital School of Nursing class of 1952. She now is acting head nurse with the Pediatric department of the hospital.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Hagerstown High School, class of 1948. He received pre-dental education at the University of Maryland, College Park, and is now a sophomore at the Maryland Dental School, Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Snapp entertained with a wedding reception for their daughter and her bridal party in the social room of the church. The bridal and Christmas theme were combined in the decorations of poinsettias, pine and pompons and candelabra of lighted tapers. The three tiered wedding cake was surrounded with small poinsettias and greens.

For their trip through Virginia, the bride selected a brown checked suit with brown and beige accessories and a white orchid corsage completed her costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Clopper will reside at the home of the bride's parents, temporarily.

Mr. and Mrs. Snapp also were hosts to the wedding party and relatives at a dinner in the Maryland room of the Alexander Hotel, before the rehearsal.

Mary Jane Horner Becomes Bride Of Harry Louis Moore

Miss Mary Jane Horner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Horner, Sr., Hyndman, Pa., became the bride of Pvt. Harry Louis Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Moore, Hyndman, December 17.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in the Bedford Road Methodist Church with Rev. T. Roscoe Hall officiating. Mr. and Mrs. William P. Moore, State College, Pa., brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were their attendants.

The bride was attired in a pale blue, two piece, street length dress, with which she wore a white hat and white accessories. Completing her costume, she carried a white Bible topped with a natural orchid.

Her matron of honor had a Navy blue taffeta dress with gold accessories and carried a nosegay of rosebuds.

Mrs. Horner chose a green dress with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. With it she wore a corsage of yellow pompons. Mrs. Moore selected a Navy blue costume and corsage of white pompons.

The bride is a graduate of Hyndman High School, class of 1948, where she was a member of the school band, and of Catherman's Business School. She is secretary in the Employment department of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Hyndman High School, class of 1948, Potomac State, Keyser, 1950 and received his Bachelor degree in agriculture economics from Penn State in 1952. He enlisted July 4 in Officer Candidate School and is stationed at Fort Knox, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Horner entertained the bridal party and immediate families at a reception at their home following the ceremony. The bridal motif was carried out in the decorations and four tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Loyce Ann Snapp Is Bride Of Lawrence A. Clopper, Jr.

Miss Loyce Ann Snapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Desmond Snapp, 100 Greenmount Avenue, Hagerstown, became the bride of Lawrence Alvin Clopper, Jr., son of Lawrence Alvin Clopper, Sr., Washington Street, city, and the late Mrs. Helen Clopper, December 21.

The candlelight wedding ceremony was solemnized at 4:30 p. m., in St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethren Church, with Rev. F. Berry Plummer, D. D., officiating. The church was decorated with vases of white pompons against northern spruce and candelabra of lighted tapers.

Miss Doris Clopper, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant, while Mr. Clopper served as his son's best man. The ushers were Charles Huyett, Hagerstown; and Gerald Effland, Martinsburg. Mrs. David Imke was organist. She played "I Love Thee," "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," "O Perfect Love," "Thine Alone," and at the benediction, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace. Its snug fitted basque waist, smoothed up to the throat and finished with a petal turned down collar. Emotional Stress Removes Plasma From Blood In Newly-Found Disease

BERKELEY, Calif.—(AP)—A newly found blood disorder which apparently is caused by prolonged emotional disturbance is reported by two University of California medical researchers.

The emotional stress results in a loss of plasma from the blood stream, said Dr. John H. Lawrence and Dr. N. I. Berlin. They reported in the Yale Journal of Biology and Medicine. Dr. Lawrence is a pioneer in the use of radioactive substances in medicine and is a brother of Dr. Ernest Lawrence, famed Cyclotron inventor.

When plasma, the straw-colored liquid part of the blood, is lost the blood becomes "thicker" because the proportion of its red cells to total blood volume is increased Any laboratory expert testing such a blood sample might justifiably conclude the person had too many red cells. This condition is known medically as polycythemia. A similiar excess of white blood cells is a symptom of leukemia.

Dr. Lawrence and Dr. Berlin found that in the new disease there was no increase in the total number of red cells in the blood stream; that it was the loss of plasma which made test samples of whole blood deceptively high in the red cell count.

In true polycythemia something causes the bone marrow to produce red cells too rapidly and their total number in the system is excessive regardless of the plasma volume.

The newly-found disorder, which the researchers called "relative polycythemia", also occurs, they said, in normal people who move suddenly to very high altitudes.

Dr. Lawrence reported he found this condition in individuals who went to high altitudes in the Peruvian Andes. Their apparent red cell increase was actually a decrease in plasma caused by stress—in this case the stress of extreme altitude. When they returned to lower levels their blood picture became normal again.

The researchers found the new disease in 18 of 215 patients sent to them with symptoms of real polycythemia. All 18 had histories of severe emotional stress.

Treatment for emotional strain is the important factor in dealing with the new disease, the researchers said.

Emotional Stress Removes Plasma From Blood In Newly-Found Disease

BERKELEY, Calif.—(AP)—A newly found blood disorder which apparently is caused by prolonged emotional disturbance is reported by two University of California medical researchers.

The emotional stress results in a loss of plasma from the blood stream, said Dr. John H. Lawrence and Dr. N. I. Berlin. They reported in the Yale Journal of Biology and Medicine. Dr. Lawrence is a pioneer in the use of radioactive substances in medicine and is a brother of Dr. Ernest Lawrence, famed Cyclotron inventor.

When plasma, the straw-colored liquid part of the blood, is lost the blood becomes "thicker" because the proportion of its red cells to total blood volume is increased. Any laboratory expert testing such a blood sample might justifiably conclude the person had too many red cells. This condition is known medically as polycythemia. A similiar excess of white blood cells is a symptom of leukemia.

Dr. Lawrence and Dr. Berlin found that in the new disease there was no increase in the total number of red cells in the blood stream; that it was the loss of plasma which made test samples of whole blood deceptively high in the red cell count.

In true polycythemia something causes the bone marrow to produce red cells too rapidly and their total number in the system is excessive regardless of the plasma volume.

The newly-found disorder, which the researchers called "relative polycythemia", also occurs, they said, in normal people who move suddenly to very high altitudes.

Dr. Lawrence reported he found this condition in individuals who went to high altitudes in the Peruvian Andes. Their apparent red cell increase was actually a decrease in plasma caused by stress—in this case the stress of extreme altitude. When they returned to lower levels their blood picture became normal again.

The researchers found the new disease in 18 of 215 patients sent to them with symptoms of real polycythemia. All 18 had histories of severe emotional stress.

Treatment for emotional strain is the important factor in dealing with the new disease, the researchers said.

$375,344 Would Be Earmarked For County Teachers Salary Hike

If the Maryland General Assembly passes the recommendations of the Green Commission on teacher salary increases a total of $375,344 in state money would be allocated to Allegany County by 1955-1956 for the graduated salary hikes.

The Green Commission plan has been approved by the Legislative Council. The program is a statewide plan. The state would reimburse the counties for all money required for the plan, over and beyond salary rates now in effect.

Estimated cost for this county's schools would be $110,320 for the school year starting next September. The state allocated money for the school year 1954-1955 would be $150,740.

Must Retain Wage

The program does not take into account any increase in the number of additional teachers who may have to be employed within the next three years. School officials here say the Green Commission plan would not benefit very many teachers for the first few years, but by 1955-1956 the increases would begin to be felt.

Teachers with degrees now receive a beginning salary of $2,700 in Allegany County. The maximum is $3,900. This scale is based on the $200 extra granted by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners for this year only.

In order to participate in the Green Commission program, in the event it is enacted into law at the General Assembly next month, Allegany county's $200 granted for this year will have to be retained.

Over Million Last Year

As one school official said, the current salary scale will be frozen under the Green plan. Teachers with master's degrees are paid an extra $200 in this county. Instructors without degrees get $200 below the scale.

Allegany County received a total of $1,669,803 in state funds for schools during the fiscal year which ended last June 30. A total of $1,299,341 was appropriated by the county for the school system during the same fiscal year.

The Green Commission's lengthy report includes these basic recommendations:

For the school years 1953-4 and 1954-5, the basic minimum salary for accredited teachers in Maryland should be $2,500.

The annual minimum increases should consist of two $100 increases for teachers with one or two years experience, and eight $200 increases after that. For the 1955-6 school year, the minimum salary should be $2,800, with a maximum of $4,600 per teacher.

All American Airport Lease Gets Approval

The city renewed its airport lease with All American Airways yesterday effective December 4 and continuing to December, 1955.

The terms are the same with three exceptions, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan explained to the Mayor and Council.

The city has agreed that on any day All American is unable to land because of ice, snow or other obstruction, the airways will get a credit or rebate on landing fees. The city receives two per cent of the gross business or $100 a month in landing fees.

The contract also provides that the city will see that sanitary supplies are placed in the toilet of the administration building and furniture installed in the waiting room.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum reported the city not responsible for repair bills incurred by Mrs. Charles T. Carney, 613½ Louisiana Avenue, as the result of a sewer stoppage. Nuzum said investigation revealed the stoppage occurred on private property and the city is not responsible. The bills were for $60.

Council approved a tax reduction of 50 per cent on personal property taxes of Maurice M. Cohn, 57 Baltimore Street for merchandise destroyed in a fire prior to beginning of the fiscal year July 1. The amount is $98.95.

The bid of the Light and Decker Company, this city, of $5,994.72 for a three ton dump truck and snow plow was accepted. The truck will be used principally at Municipal Airport.

Commissioner John J. Long said he, City Attorney Finan and Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn had met with representatives of the Mt. Savage and Osgood bus companies on the flow of traffic problem on George Street. He added the same group will meet again with the Blue Ridge Bus Company.

Mayor Roy W. Eves took time out at the meeting to extend his Christmas greetings to the citizens, council and employes.

Inductees Listed For Army Duty

The names of 13 Selective Service registrants slated to report January 2 in Baltimore for induction into the armed forces were released yesterday by P. Emmett Fahey, clerk co-ordinator of Cumberland draft boards. Leaving will be:

Board 27—George Lynn Butler, 166 Main Street, Ridgeley; Earl Ernest Kifer, RD 1, Flintstone; Charles Costello Poling Jr., Youngstown, Ohio, formerly of 439 Arch Street; Frederick Alvin Weddle, Flintstone; Carl Albert Breighner, 948 Gay Street.

Floyd Charles Stafford, Iron Mountain; Owen Carl Vance, RD 1, Flintstone; Larry Denver Irons, Oldtown Road; David Arthur Davis, Norfolk, Va., formerly of RD 4, Mexico Farms, and Donald Keith Talley, 43 Boone Street.

Board 28—Paul Vincent Lepley, RD 1, Homewood Addition; Leroy Merle Dicken, Valley Road, and Charles Richard Burley, 217 Knox Street.

Fahey said 21 registrants of Board 28 will accompany the inductees for physical examinations. The contingent will leave the Union Street County Building at 7 a. m. via Blue Ridge bus.

Beall Assures Cooperation On Proposed C & O Parkway

Senator-Elect J. Glenn Beall yesterday assured the Mayor and Council his cooperation in efforts toward the proposed C&O Canal Parkway project.

In a letter to the council yesterday morning, Beall said he thought the resolution drawn up by the city in suport of the parkway a "splendid idea" and suggested copies be sent county delegation members to the General Assembly. The delegation, at a recent meeting with the council, said it would lend its support to parkway efforts.

Beall also urged that the city appeal for a hearing on the project at the proper time.

Cumberland and Allegany County have given support to the project and the State Roads Commission will support it because of the roads angle, Russell H. McCain, chairman, reported last week.

But opposition is heavy in Montgomery, Frederick and Washington counties particularly from sportsmen's groups.

And a minority report of the Board of Natural Resources has favored scrapping the plan.

The majority report by the State Planning Commission is being awaited because the minority said it had made its recommendations because it did not concur in others being made by members of the special committee to study the parkway set up by the legislature in 1951.

The group included the planning commission, SRC and two members of the resources board.

The planning commission office in Baltimore said today the final report has not been completed and probably will not be released until after the first of the year. The director, Alvin Pasarew, is on vacation and will not return until January 5.

Conway Is Instructor Of Flintstone High Sportsmen, Rifle Club

George K. Conway, Mason Road, has been selected as instructor for the newly organized Flintstone High School Junior Sportsmen and Rifle Club of Flintstone, the National Rifle Association announced yesterday.

Membership in the newly chartered group will be restricted to youngsters under 19 years of age Officers are: Delmer Yonker Little Orleans, president; Nelson Willison, RFD 2, Cumberland, vice president; Fred A. Bible, Flintstone, executive officer; Ronald R. Slider, RFD 1, Oldtown, secretary; and Dwight L. Morris, Flintstone, treasurer.

Aim of the new club, like thousands of others similarly chartered by the National Rifle Association, is to teach youngsters the fundamentals of good marksmanship and safe firearms handling.

Yuletide! . . . Christmas! . . . the glorious season of rejoicing . . . of reunions . . . of specially prepared dinners.

Hollywood Bread lends distinctive grace to these memorable occasions. Poultry stuffings made with Hollywood Bread are truly superb. Try Eleanor Day's famous Christmas Dressing recipe.

Melt in a frying pan, two or three tablespoons of fat; add one tablespoon chopped onion, and saute until tender.

Add one cup Hollywood Bread crumbs, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one-half teaspoon each of sage, chopped celery, and parsley . . . and mix well.

Add one egg, slightly beaten, and mix well.

Then add one to two tablespoons of stock made off of the giblets.

Chopped walnuts, chestnuts or mushrooms may also be added.

This makes a loose, savory, light poultry stuffing.

Yuletide! . . . Christmas! . . . the glorious season of rejoicing . . . of reunions . . . of specially prepared dinners.

Hollywood Bread lends distinctive grace to these memorable occasions. Poultry stuffings made with Hollywood Bread are truly superb. Try Eleanor Day's famous Christmas Dressing recipe.

Melt in a frying pan, two or three tablespoons of fat; add one tablespoon chopped onion, and saute until tender.

Add one cup Hollywood Bread crumbs, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one-half teaspoon each of sage, chopped celery, and parsley . . . and mix well.

Add one egg, slightly beaten, and mix well.

Then add one to two tablespoons of stock made off of the giblets.

Chopped walnuts, chestnuts or mushrooms may also be added.

This makes a loose, savory, light poultry stuffing.

Peterson Requests Pool Room License; Another Drops Bid

Michael F. Yantorno Jr., has withdrawn an application for a license to operate a pool room at 164 Baltimore Street.

Yantorno announced his action in writing to the Mayor and Council yesterday morning.

Submitted last week, the application was tabled until yesterday after Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long indicated he would vote to reject it.

Another application, that of Nicholas Peterson for 19 North Liberty Street, was continued yesterday when Long said he wanted to see Peterson personally. Both Peterson and his attorney, Harold E. Naughton, were at yesterday's council session.

Former Resident Wins Air Force Promotion

A former Cumberland resident, Charles L. Johnson, has been promoted recently to staff sergeant in the U. S. Air Force at his station on Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines.

Sergeant Johnson, who has been on his Philippine assignment for the past year, received promotion while assigned to the adjutant section, 31st Air Rescue Squadron, 2nd Air Rescue Group.

A student at LaSalle High School before he enlisted for military service in February of 1946, Sergeant Johnson saw previous duty with the occupation forces in Europe.

He is the son of Mrs. Charles H. Johnson, Jane Frazier Apts. His wife, the former Juanita A. Kearchner, with their three children, Martha Kay, 6, Charles Jr., 3, and David Michael, 2, lives at 703 Columbia Ave. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Kearchner, 615 Princeton St.

South End Gets 'Courtesy Meter'

A parking violation "courtesy meter" has been installed at South End Fire Station, Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long said.

The meter will work on the same principle as the one at Police Headquarters.

Parking violators depositing meter fee in the courtesy meter within an hour after tagged are excused from $1 fine.

Five County Farmers Begin Conservation

Five more Allegany County farmers are new cooperators with the County Soil Conservation District Supervisors, Martin Gordon, soil conservation aid, reported yesterday at the supervisors December meeting.

The new co-operators are John Hardinger, Union Grove; Russell Rice, Flintstone; Eugene Carder, Oldtown Road; Garrett Kinser, Oldtown, and Roy Shyrock, Jr., Oldtown. Involved in their farms are 549 acres.

Gordon also reported that some 165 acres of subsoiling had been undertaken in the past month on 11 farms in the Flintstone area. The hard pan under the surface soil was cracked up to make the soil more porous.

The city of Charlotte, N. C., was named for Princess Charlotte, wife of George III.

Sipes Forfeits Bonds In Bridge Accident

Bonds totaling $125 and costs were forfeited yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court by D. R. Sipes of Everett, Pa., whose car was involved in a crash which tied up traffic on Blue Bridge for several minutes Sunday night.

City Police said Sipes struck an auto driven by Thomas E. Ruppert, 20, of 509 Frederick Street. Damage amounted to $500 but no one was hurt.

Pendleton Arbogast, RD 3, city, was fined $30.75 for having an overload of 1,500 pounds on a truck axle.

Delegate Suggests Tax Exemption For Industry In County

Horace P. Whitworth Jr., Allegany County delegate to the Maryland General Assembly, yesterday issued a statement in relation to a bill he plans to introduce next month to provide encouragement to existing industries in this county through a tax exemption program. The statement follows:

"Upon the basic theory that it is as equally important to encourage and develop the growth of all manufacturing industries already located and doing business and providing job security in Allegany County as it is to encourage new industries to locate in the county, I have made a study for the past few months of legislation in other states and have found that most of them grant tax exemptions to existing industries as well as offering such exemptions to new industries.

"We have in Allegany County some good basic multi-state industries, (corporations that have branch plants in many states) and I believe it is time for our citizenry to wake up to the fact that it is easier to get our existing industries to expand and grow and provide new jobs and new departments by such expansion, than it is to attract new industries to locate in Allegany County.

Many Offer Much

"We should encourage both expansion of our already existing plants as well as new industries in Allegany County. In my opinion we have fallen down on the encouragement of our existing plants to expand in this area. We have failed to realize that many other desirable communities and states are offering much more encouragement for plant expansion and opportunity for better profit with less investment than we are giving them in Allegany County. In order to keep a balance economy and to go forward in Allegany County we must change.

"Our people must show a better willingness to work, with an appreciation for their jobs and they should take more of an active part in their labor unions and management problems tending toward better cooperation and with the utmost concern for the financial stability and soundness of their employers as well as themselves. Such an attitude will encourage our existing plants to invest in Allegany County almost as much as more tangible concessions, and such an attitude will do much to attract new industries.

"I believe that we have been unfair to our existing plants in tax exemptions and I intend to request the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly of Maryland to sponsor a bill as I have outlined along the same pattern as passed by the South Carolina Legislature in 1949, which legislation has already encouraged millions of dollars for plant expansion and additions to plants already located in South Carolina. As most people know, by Chapter 449 of the Acts of 1951, the Maryland legislature provided in substance that land, buildings, and any and all tools and machinery, raw materials and manufactured products, and other personal property of new manufacturing industries located in Allegany County will be exempt for a period of 10 years from the year of location of such enterprise from county and municipal taxes.

Help For New Firms

"Under this law we have given tax exemptions to new industries only as an encouragement to get them to locate in Allegany County. I think this is good law but we do not go far enough since it does not exempt the additions and expansion of any of our existing plants which is just as important and perhaps more important because we have multi-state industries that have plants in other states that do grant such exemptions to additions and expansion in their states. Even in Baltimore City the tax exemptions apply to existing plants as well as new industries.

"I propose a bill in substance that extensions and additions to manufacturing plants wholly located in Allegany County, hereinafter constructed as a part of any existing manufacturing plant located in said county be exempt from county and municipal taxes as follows:

"(a) If the actual cost of the construction of such extension or addition, inclusive of the cost of the land, is more than $100,000, and less than $250,000, for a period of Five years from the date of the commencement of the construction of such extension or addition.

"(b) If the actual cost of the construction of such extension or addition, inclusive of the cost of the lands, is not less than $250,000, and not more than $500,000, for a period of Seven years from the date of the commencement of the construction of such extension or addition.

More Classifications

"(c) If the actual cost of the construction of such extension or addition, inclusive of the costs of the lands, is not less than $500,000, and not more than $1,000,000, for a period of 10 years from the date of the commencement of the construction of such extension or addition.

"(d) If the actual cost of construction of such extension or addition, inclusive of the cost of the lands, is not less than $1,000,000 and not more than $5,000,000 for a period of 15 years from the date of the commencement of the con-

Delegate Suggests Tax Exemption For Industry In County

Horace P. Whitworth Jr., Allegany County delegate to the Maryland General Assembly, yesterday issued a statement in relation to a bill he plans to introduce next month to provide encouragement to existing industries in this county through a tax exemption program. The statement follows:

"Upon the basic theory that it is as equally important to encourage and develop the growth of all manufacturing industries already located and doing business and providing job security in Allegany County as it is to encourage new industries to locate in the county, I have made a study for the past few months of legislation in other states and have found that most of them grant tax exemptions to existing industries as well as offering such exemptions to new industries.

"We have in Allegany County some good basic multi-state industries, (corporations that have branch plants in many states) and I believe it is time for our citizenry to wake up to the fact that it is easier to get our existing industries to expand and grow and provide new jobs and new departments by such expansion, than it is to attract new industries to locate in Allegany County.

Many Offer Much

"We should encourage both expansion of our already existing plants as well as new industries in Allegany County. In my opinion we have fallen down on the encouragement of our existing plants to expand in this area. We have failed to realize that many other desirable communities and states are offering much more encouragement for plant expansion and opportunity for better profit with less investment than we are giving them in Allegany County. In order to keep a balance economy and to go forward in Allegany County we must change.

"Our people must show a better willingness to work, with an appreciation for their jobs and they should take more of an active part in their labor unions and management problems tending toward better cooperation and with the utmost concern for the financial stability and soundness of their employers as well as themselves. Such an attitude will encourage our existing plants to invest in Allegany County almost as much as more tangible concessions, and such an attitude will do much to attract new industries.

"I believe that we have been unfair to our existing plants in tax exemptions and I intend to request the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly of Maryland to sponsor a bill as I have outlined along the same pattern as passed by the South Carolina Legislature in 1949, which legislation has already encouraged millions of dollars for plant expansion and additions to plants already located in South Carolina. As most people know, by Chapter 449 of the Acts of 1951, the Maryland legislature provided in substance that land, buildings, and any and all tools and machinery, raw materials and manufactured products, and other personal property of new manufacturing industries located in Allegany County will be exempt for a period of 10 years from the year of location of such enterprise from county and municipal taxes.

Help For New Firms

"Under this law we have given tax exemptions to new industries only as an encouragement to get them to locate in Allegany County. I think this is good law but we do not go far enough since it does not exempt the additions and expansion of any of our existing plants which is just as important and perhaps more important because we have multi-state industries that have plants in other states that do grant such exemptions to additions and expansion in their states. Even in Baltimore City the tax exemptions apply to existing plants as well as new industries.

"I propose a bill in substance that extensions and additions to manufacturing plants wholly located in Allegany County, hereinafter constructed as a part of any existing manufacturing plant located in said county be exempt from county and municipal taxes as follows:

"(a) If the actual cost of the construction of such extension or addition, inclusive of the cost of the land, is more than $100,000, and less than $250,000, for a period of Five years from the date of the commencement of the construction of such extension or addition.

"(b) If the actual cost of the construction of such extension or addition, inclusive of the cost of the lands, is not less than $250,000, and not more than $500,000, for a period of Seven years from the date of the commencement of the construction of such extension or addition.

More Classifications

"(c) If the actual cost of the construction of such extension or addition, inclusive of the costs of the lands, is not less than $500,000, and not more than $1,000,000, for a period of 10 years from the date of the commencement of the construction of such extension or addition.

"(d) If the actual cost of construction of such extension or addition, inclusive of the cost of the lands, is not less than $1,000,000 and not more than $5,000,000 for a period of 15 years from the date of the commencement of the con-

Two Appetizing Corn Main Dishes

Here are two versions of typical North and South main dish corn favorites.

Up North dumplings are standbys with cooks who need filling food for hardworking men, and dumplings add their stick-to-the-ribs heartiness to a delicious mixture of corn, tomatoes and ground beef called Corn Dumpling Dinner.

Down South corn puddings are a specialty, and wonderful eating they make. Chicken and corn combine delightfully in a Chicken Corn Bake, a good dish for using up leftover chicken.

Corn Dumpling Dinner

2 tablespoons shortening
¼ cup chopped onion
½ pound ground beef
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 1-pound can white cream style corn
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon shortening
¾ cup milk

Melt butter; add onion and cook until tender, but not brown. Add meat and cook, breaking with a fork until browned. Remove meat, reserve. Add flour, salt and pepper; stir to a smooth paste. Add tomatoes and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add corn and meat; heat to serving temperature. For dumplings, sift together flour, salt and baking powder; cut in shortening with two knives or pastry blender. Add milk, stir only to moisten. Drop by spoonfuls into corn mixture. Cover tightly; cook over low heat 12 minutes without removing cover. To serve, remove dumplings with slotted spoon on warm platter. Turn corn mixture into serving dish; place dumplings on top. YIELD: 4 servings.

Chicken Corn Bake

3 eggs, separated
1 cup milk, scalded
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 cup diced cooked chicken
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
1 1-pound can yellow cream style corn

Beat egg yolks. Add milk, stirring constantly. Add butter; stir until melted. Add chicken, bread cubes, dry mustard, salt, pepper and Tabasco. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; fold into corn mixture. Turn into a 10 x 6 x 2-inch casserole. Bake in a slow oven (325° F.) 40 to 45 minutes, or until firm.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Cereal Cookery

We cook cereals for three reasons: to improve the flavor; to improve digestibility; and to soften the cellulose, thus improving the texture. If directions are carefully followed, cereals are easily and quickly prepared, and are best if well flavored, free from lumps, not too stiff, not too thin, and served piping hot.

Toasted Corn Bread -- Perfect Setting For Chicken a la King

Just how the name "King" came to be associated with this popular luncheon, dinner or supper dish is a matter that usually brings forth a little discussion.

Some claim that Chicken A La King was named for a Philadelphia restaurant owner who dreamed up the dish late one evening, years ago, when his supply of chicken was low and a late-evening crowd ordered chicken. Others believe it was so named because it is fare fit for a king.

Whatever its rightful origin may be, you can't beat Chicken or Turkey A La King for goodness when it is served on toasted corn bread. Corn bread possesses a rich flavor that's naturally sociable with the tasty creamed chicken or turkey. A strong point in favor of this combination is that the toasted corn bread will not go limp when it's covered with the hot mixture.

Toasted corn bread makes the perfect base for the King method of using the strippings taken from the left over carcass of a holiday bird, whether it's turkey or chicken.

Chicken A La King
On Toasted Corn Bread

¼ cup green pepper, chopped
1 tablespoon onion
½ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
1 cup chicken stock
1 cup cream
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
2 tablespoons pimiento, cut
3 cup diced cooked chicken or turkey
2 egg yolks, well beaten
½ cup chicken or turkey stock, cold

Toasted corn bread (recipe below)

Brown green pepper and onion lightly in butter or margarine. Blend in the flour. Add stock and cream and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add salt, pepper, pimiento, and chicken, and cook, covered, 20 minutes in top of double boiler. Just before serving, stir in the well-beaten egg yolks mixed with the ½ cup stock. Serve on squares of corn bread which have been split and toasted in toaster or broiler. Yield: 6 servings.

Corn Bread

1½ cups corn meal
⅓ cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoons salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
2 eggs, beaten slightly
1½ cups milk
¼ cup melted butter or margarine

(If self-rising corn meal and flour are used, omit salt and baking powder.)

Mix and sift the dry ingredients together. Combine beaten egg, milk, and melted butter or margarine which has been cooled. Pour liquids over dry ingredients, mixing only until moistened. Pour into a well-greased 8-or-9-inch square pan and bake in a 400°F. oven until it shrinks from the sides of the pan, about 20 to 25 minutes.

Two Appetizing Corn Main Dishes

Here are two versions of typical North and South main dish corn favorites.

Up North dumplings are standbys with cooks who need filling food for hardworking men, and dumplings add their stick-to-the-ribs heartiness to a delicious mixture of corn, tomatoes and ground beef called Corn Dumpling Dinner.

Down South corn puddings are a specialty, and wonderful eating they make. Chicken and corn combine delightfully in a Chicken Corn Bake, a good dish for using up left-over chicken.

Corn Dumpling Dinner

2 tablespoons shortening
¼ cup chopped onion
½ pound ground beef
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 1-pound can white cream style corn
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon shortening
¾ cup milk

Melt butter; add onion and cook until tender, but not brown. Add meat and cook, breaking with a fork until browned. Remove meat, reserve. Add flour, salt and pepper; stir to a smooth paste. Add tomatoes and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add corn and meat; heat to serving temperature. For dumplings, sift together flour, salt and baking powder; cut in shortening with two knives or pastry blender. Add milk, stir only to moisten. Drop by spoonfuls into corn mixture. Cover tightly; cook over low heat 12 minutes without removing cover. To serve, remove dumplings with slotted spoon on warm platter. Turn corn mixture into serving dish; place dumplings on top. YIELD: 4 servings.

Chicken Corn Bake

3 eggs, separated
1 cup milk, scalded
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 cup diced cooked chicken
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
1 1-pound can yellow cream style corn

Beat egg yolks. Add milk, stirring constantly. Add butter; stir until melted. Add chicken, bread cubes, dry mustard, salt, pepper and Tabasco. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; fold into corn mixture. Turn into a 10 x 6 x 2-inch casserole. Bake in a slow oven (325° F.) 40 to 45 minutes, or until firm.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Cereal Cookery

We cook cereals for three reasons: to improve the flavor; to improve digestibility; and to soften the cellulose, thus improving the texture. If directions are carefully followed, cereals are easily and quickly prepared, and are best if well flavored, free from lumps, not too stiff, not too thin, and served piping hot.

Toasted Corn Bread -- Perfect Setting For Chicken a la King

Just how the name "King" came to be associated with this popular luncheon, dinner or supper dish is a matter that usually brings forth a little discussion.

Some claim that Chicken A La King was named for a Philadelphia restaurant owner who dreamed up the dish late one evening, years ago, when his supply of chicken was low and a late-evening crowd ordered chicken. Others believe it was so named because it is fare fit for a king.

Whatever its rightful origin may be, you can't beat Chicken or Turkey A La King for goodness when it is served on toasted corn bread. Corn bread possesses a rich flavor that's naturally sociable with the tasty creamed chicken or turkey. A strong point in favor of this combination is that the toasted corn bread will not go limp when it's covered with the hot mixture.

Toasted corn bread makes the perfect base for the King method of using the strippings taken from the left over carcass of a holiday bird, whether it's turkey or chicken.

Chicken A La King On Toasted Corn Bread

¼ cup green pepper, chopped
1 tablespoon onion
½ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
1 cup chicken stock
1 cup cream
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
2 tablespoons pimiento, cut
3 cup diced cooked chicken or turkey
2 egg yolks, well beaten
½ cup chicken or turkey stock, cold

Toasted corn bread (recipe below)

Brown green pepper and onion lightly in butter or margarine. Blend in the flour. Add stock and cream and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add salt, pepper, pimiento, and chicken, and cook, covered, 20 minutes in top of double boiler. Just before serving, stir in the well-beaten egg yolks mixed with the ½ cup stock. Serve on squares of corn bread which have been split and toasted in toaster or broiler. Yield: 6 servings.

Corn Bread

1½ cups corn meal
⅓ cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoons salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
2 eggs, beaten slightly
1½ cups milk
¼ cup melted butter or margarine

(If self-rising corn meal and flour are used, omit salt and baking powder.)

Mix and sift the dry ingredients together. Combine beaten egg, milk, and melted butter or margarine which has been cooled. Pour liquids over dry ingredients, mixing only until moistened. Pour into a well-greased 8-or-9-inch square pan and bake in a 400°F. oven until it shrinks from the sides of the pan, about 20 to 25 minutes.

Dual Highway Favored Over C & O Parkway

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Dec. 22 (AP) —Washington County Commissioner Chester Delphey said today that completing U. S. Route 40 as a dual lane highway across Maryland would be better than spending money on the proposed Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Parkway.

Delphey also said in a statement that he favors the development of picnic and recreation areas along the Potomac River, along with some good game preserves.

He made the remarks in response to a recent plan offered by Del. Horace P. Whitworth of Allegany County. Whitworth suggested that his county's delegation should push for a start on a parkway, from Cumberland to Hancock. Once built that far, he explained, it would be much easier to get the whole 180-mile parkway approved.

The national Park Service has estimated the entire parkway development would cost some 17 million dollars. It wants the state to buy 11,000 acres along the canal and cede it to the federal government.

Various Maryland groups are split over the wisdom of building the parkway.

Alumni Tops Fort Hill, 48-44; Allegany Plays Grads Tonight

Graduate Club Hands Varsity Fourth Defeat

Hoggard, McGregor Set Scoring Pace; 24 Play In Game

An Alumni squad loaded with college players proved too much for Fort Hill High School's varsity cagers last night and Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Sentinels dropped their fourth game in five starts by the score of 48-44.

Twenty-four players participated in the game—12 on each side.

The first half was closed with the teams knotted at 13-13 at the quarter while Fort Hill held a 25-24 edge at intermission. In the third quarter, however, the grads pulled away to a 40-34 lead and stayed on top to the finish.

Vern Hoggard of Richmond U., led the winners with 10 points while Charley Lattimer of Maryland had seven and John Poling of Shepherd and Lynn Beightol of Maryland has six tallies each. George McGregor led the varsity scorers with 10 markers while Bob Brant and Bob Andrews garnered seven each.

The Alumni outscored the Sentinels 20 to 13 in field goals while the school team outscored the grads 18-8 at the charity stripe.

Fort Hill's next game is with Martinsburg High School January 2. Lineups:

CHAMP AND HIS CHILDREN—Here's Martin D. Tenney, Jr., former golf champion of the Cumberland Country Club and two of his children, taken at Little Rock, Ark., where he now resides. Tenney won six golf titles as a youngster at the CCC. He's won 23 tournaments since leaving Cumberland and this year he captured the Arkansas state title. He was 15 when he bagged his first championship here. Martin is pictured with son Charles and daughter Melba. His oldest son, Martin III, who was born in Cumberland, is a sophomore at the University of Texas. (See Sport Slants for Tenney's letter).

College Cagers Test Unbeaten Camper Outfit

Keyser Hosts Alumni, Petersburg To Face Thomas In PVC Tilt

Allegany High School's basketeers will be gunning for their third straight victory of the campaign tonight when they do battle with the Alumni on the Campobello court at 8 o'clock.

Coach Walter L. Bowers' Campers got off to a flying start by whipping Piedmont, 54-51, and Somerset, (Pa.) High School, 71-52.

Collegians To Play

Tonight's game should be a real test for the Campers as the Alumni lineup will include at least a half dozen players who are now active in the college ranks. Charles "Whip" Kreitzburg will direct the grads whose lineup is expected to include Ronnie Sisk and John (Junior) Eversole, of Washington College; Russell Robertson, Jack Barham and Ronnie Chapman of Frostburg State Teachers College and Blaine Morton, of Fairmont (W. Va.) State. Herman Lewis, home from the Navy, and others will be seen with the grads. Others home from the service or college desiring to play are requested to contact Kreitzburg.

Bob Pence and Eddie Diehl will officiate.

Thomas At Petersburg

Coach Jesse Riggleman's Petersburg Vikings made their Potomac Valley Conference debut tonight when they play host to Ed Supak's Thomas High Bears on the Petersburg court. Thomas (2-1) opened its P.V.C. campaign with a 55-49 win over Circleville's Indians.

Paw Paw (2-2) plays Herb Yost's Berkeley Springs Indians tonight on the latter's court.

Mt. Savage High School (0-4) goes to Hyndman tonight to meet Coach Chris E. Stoner's Hyndman High cagers who have won two games in nine starts.

Keyser High School hosts the Alumni tonight.

In other games Wendell Mathias' cagers from Mathias High School face Strasburg High School in Virginia and Claysburg High tackles the Bisons at Bedford High School.

J. Wilson paced the winners with 27 points while G. Wilson was high for Hann's with 24.

As You Were

If you've ever seen Joe Black, the Brooklyn Dodgers' ace of 1952, warm up before a game you'll notice that he takes a position back of the rubber before delivering the ball. The player pictured here did that 30 years ago when he was on the firing line for the Western Maryland Railway team and the Cumberland Colts. Many who saw this fellow pitch still contend that he never has had an equal locally when it came to throwing fast balls. He wasn't the best control pitcher but he really could throw "buck shot." On numerous occasions he whiffed from 14 to 16 batsmen a game. He was a versatile ballplayer, could play any position on the diamond and was a good hitter. After he left Cumberland he played semi-pro baseball around Rochester, N. Y., and he's still a resident of New York State. What's his name?

He's Nate Dreyer, and he seems to be doing O. K. because he's now in the butcher business at Jamestown, N. Y. Walter Drumm handled the slants of Nate numerous times and if you doubt that Dreyer's pitches were jet-propelled consult Walt. The photo was taken in 1920.

Parsons Beats Alumni, 46-37

PARSONS, W. Va., Dec. 22—Parsons High School defeated the Alumni tonight by the score of 46 to 37.

Fairbanks, Wilfong and Collett dumped in 37 of the school team's points. Delaney topped the grads' attack with an even dozen tallies. Nineteen Alumni players saw service.

Cartier Held Even

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (INS) — Walter Cartier of Greenwich Village, 161, and Pierre Langlois of France, 159½, battled to a bloody ten-round draw tonight at New York's Eastern Parkway Area.

Although there were no knockdowns, each was in occasional difficulty. Langlois suffered a cut on the bridge of the nose in the second round and bled profusely thereafter.

Turner Stops Miceli

LaSalle Retains Lead In Weekly Basketball Poll

Illinois Is Second, Kansas State Fifth

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP) — The LaSalle Explorers, back from a Western trip with a perfect 8-0 record, remain the No. 1 college basketball team for the second straight week in the Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters.

The veteran team that won the National Invitation Tournament last spring swept over Arizona and Stanford to remain unbeaten as they head into the first Holiday Festival Tournament at Madison Square Garden this weekend.

LaSalle drew 28 of the 77 first place votes as the experts scattered their fire to include 57 different teams.

Illinois Is Runner-up

Illinois whipped Butler to bring its record to 3-0, taking over second place with 12 first place votes as Kansas State, runnerup in the first poll of the season, tumbled to fifth after bowing to Michigan State, 80-63.

The standings are based on points with 10 for first place, nine for second and so on down to one for tenth place. LaSalle had 630 points and Illinois 577.

Seton Hall, rolling high with nine straight including a victory over Western Kentucky that knocked the Hilltoppers from the ranks of the unbeaten, moved up a peg to third place with six firsts and 434 points.

Holy Cross Moves Up

Holy Cross jumped from eighth to fourth with a 4-0 record by defeating Colby and St. John's. Holy Cross drew nine firsts and 326 points, just edging Kansas State 4-1 and North Carolina 7-1. Kansas State was fifth with 321 points and N. C. State sixth with 314.

Washington moved up to seventh on the strength of two wins over California for a 5-1 record and 205 points. Louisiana State 5-0 took over eighth with 184 points, followed by Oklahoma A. and M. 6-1 and Western Kentucky 5-1. The Aggies dropped from fifth after losing to Colorado.

The leaders on a 10-9-8- etc. basis season records and first place votes in parentheses:

Letter From Tenney • • • Queen Of The Minors

Pros Fail To Draw • • • It's Johnson's Story

By C. V. BURNS

Martin D. Tenney, Jr., the "Boy Wonder" of golf at the Cumberland Country Club two decades ago, writes the following from Little Rock, Ark.:

"Dear Sir:

"A friend of mine who lives here and takes the Cumberland paper showed me the article about me which was listed under "As You Were." It sure brought back fond memories so I thought I would drop you a line.

"The weather here is warm and with a few bad days mixed in we play golf the year round.

"I have won 23 tournaments since living here but 1952 was the first year I was able to win the state tournament, although I was finalist four times.

"I am enclosing some of the clippings I have saved since being here and I am sending them for you to read.

"I am district manager for International Correspondence Schools and my oldest son, Martin III, who was born in Cumberland, is a sophomore at the University of Texas.

"Incidentally, I was kidded a lot when Mississippi beat Maryland as I was bragging too much.

"Be sure to give my best regards to "Doc" Heintz, Judge Morgan C. Harris and the other people in Cumberland who were so good and kind to me when I lived there. They just don't make them any better.

"Be sure and send my clippings back. I'll be 40 years old next March and I probably won't win any more tournaments so I wanted to save them.

"Next year I'm coming home to Cumberland and I'm going to bring "Dutch" Harrison with me so tell Judge Harris to get in shape."

Tenney won six spring and fall golf tournaments at the Cumberland Country Club from 1928 to 1932. He was 15 when he captured his first championship.

The Old Germans basketball team will not play any more games until Sunday, January 4, Player-Manager Bob Pence announced last night.

Several of the players are going home for the Yule season and attendance has been so lean that it was deemed best to remain idle during the holidays.

The locals took a loss of $42 on Sunday's game and in the last two games the deficit exceeds $50.

Attendance for the four games played to date is 1,228. The opener attracted 537 followed by 263, 237 and 191. The Old Germans have won three of the four contests.

Funeral services were held Sunday at Nikep for Wilmer Hyde, 43, who died last week at Miners Hospital, Frostburg.

Cecil Warnick yesterday recalled that Hyde played second base for Moscow's championship teams in the Allegany County Baseball League in 1931 and 1932 and also played on Barton and Lonaconing teams. Two years ago Wilmer refereed in the W.M.I. Soccer League. For many years he operated a motor that controlled the cars of the mines at Klondyke.

His widow was Mildred (Mid) Johnson, the star of championship basketball and field ball teams at Central High School, Lonaconing. Three children survive.

Surprise Girl, a winner during the June races at Fairgo, follows in the footsteps of Cushlamachree and Annie's Dream as the "Queen of the Minor Tracks" for 1952.

Dorsey M. Williams, 83-year-old owner of Surprise Girl, paid $2,500 for the daughter of Bless Me-Politigirl, which was a rather good investment in view of her earnings of $15,440 this year.

She has gone postward 24 times and got back to the winner's circle on 11 different afternoons.

Carlyle Johnson, who handled the publicity for the recent race meeting at Charles Town, tells an interesting story about Surprise Girl's owner.

At one time Mr. Williams was master of hounds for the Patapsco Hunt, developed show horses and hunters, acted as a judge at horse shows and reluctantly became acquainted with elephants.

It seems that upon disbandment of a circus there were five pachyderms in need of housing and they were brought to Williams' farm for quartering. One of them suddenly took sick and there was no one in the area familiar with the know how of tending a sick mammal so Williams took on the task. He reasoned that home remedies might do the trick.

Williams said that since whiskey always has been used in the country as a get-better treatment he figured what was good enough for a man was good enough for an elephant. So he got three gallons of liquor, five gallons of cottonseed oil and some nitre and gave it to the elephant. Then the pachyderm passed out.

However, he got well and the Ringling people, who had purchased the quintet as an act, were very thankful, so much so that they sent Williams a check for $1,000.

GWU Wins, 113-87

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP) — George Washington broke its own scoring record, only two nights old, and hung up the most points ever scored against a Duke team, trouncing the Blue here tonight, 113-87.

Joe Holup, 6-foot-6 freshman from Swoyersville, Pa., set a new G.W. scoring record with 33 points, breaking the record of 30 set by his brother, John, two weeks ago against West Virginia.

West Virginia Tops Gamecocks

MORGANTOWN, Dec. 22. (AP)— West Virginia University had all it could handle in the first half here tonight, but moved ahead easily in the final periods to defeat South Carolina 91-74 in a Southern Conference basketball clash before 4,000 fans.

It was a see-saw battle in the first two quarters with the lead changing 14 times and the score knotted 10 times. The Mountaineers led 39-35 at half time.

Mack Isner led the game scoring with 20 points for the Mountaineers. Joe Smith was high man for the losers with 18.

WVU and South Carolina tangle again here tomorrow night. Quarter scores:

SOUTH CAROLINA	16	19	20	19	—74
WEST VIRGINIA	16	23	21	31	—91

Moore Would Fight Turpin If Maxim Shuns Return Go

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (INS) — Archie Moore's manager said today that if ex-champ Joey Maxim is hesitant about a return match, the new light-heavyweight titlist will next defend the crown against Randy Turpin of England.

Charlie Johnston, whose fighter won the crown from Maxim in St. Louis last Wednesday night, told New York Athletic Commissioner Bob Christenberry today Moore is determined to be a fighting champion.

"I've asked (International Boxing Club president) Jim Norris to stage the return with Maxim as soon as possible," Johnston said "If Maxim indicates that he doesn't want the return or that he wants too much time he'll have to wait till I (sic) fight Turpin. Moore is going to be a fighting champion and doesn't want to lay off any length of time waiting for somebody to make his mind up."

Graduate Club Hands Varsity Fourth Defeat

Hoggard, McGregor Set Scoring Pace; 24 Play In Game

An Alumni squad loaded with college players proved too much for Fort Hill High School's varsity cagers last night and Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Sentinels dropped their fourth game in five starts by the score of 48-44.

Twenty-four players participated in the game—12 on each side.

The first half was closed with the teams knotted at 13-13 at the quarter while Fort Hill held a 25-24 edge at intermission. In the third quarter, however, the grads pulled away to a 40-34 lead and stayed on top to the finish.

Vern Hoggard of Richmond U., led the winners with 10 points while Charley Lattimer of Maryland had seven and John Poling of Shepherd and Lynn Beightol of Maryland has six tallies each. George McGregor led the varsity scorers with 10 markers while Bob Brant and Bob Andrews garnered seven each.

The Alumni outscored the Sentinels 20 to 13 in field goals while the school team outscored the grads 18-8 at the charity stripe.

CHAMP AND HIS CHILDREN—Here's Martin D. Tenney, Jr., former golf champion of the Cumberland Country Club and two of his children, taken at Little Rock, Ark., where he now resides. Tenney won six golf titles as a youngster at the CCC. He's won 23 tournaments since leaving Cumberland and this year he captured the Arkansas state title. He was 15 when he bagged his first championship here. Martin is pictured with son Charles and daughter Melba. His oldest son, Martin III, who was born in Cumberland, is a sophomore at the University of Texas. (See Sport Slants for Tenney's letter).

LaSalle Retains Lead In Weekly Basketball Poll

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP) — The LaSalle Explorers, back from a Western trip with a perfect 8-0 record, remain the No. 1 college basketball team for the second straight week in the Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters.

The veteran team that won the National Invitation Tournament last spring swept over Arizona and Stanford to remain unbeaten as they head into the first Holiday Festival Tournament at Madison Square Garden this weekend.

LaSalle drew 28 of the 77 first place votes as the experts scattered their fire to include 57 different teams.

Illinois Is Runner-up

Illinois whipped Butler to bring its record to 3-0, taking over second place with 12 first place votes as Kansas State, runnerup in the first poll of the season, tumbled to fifth after bowing to Michigan State, 80-63.

The standings are based on points with 10 for first place, nine for second and so on down to one for tenth place. LaSalle had 630 points and Illinois 577.

Seton Hall, rolling high with nine straight including a victory over Western Kentucky that knocked the Hilltoppers from the ranks of the unbeaten, moved up a peg to third place with six firsts and 434 points.

Holy Cross Moves Up

Holy Cross jumped from eighth to fourth with a 4-0 record by defeating Colby and St. John's. Holy Cross drew nine firsts and 326 points, just edging Kansas State 4-1 and North Carolina 7-1. Kansas State was fifth with 321 points and N. C. State sixth with 314.

Washington moved up to seventh on the strength of two wins over California for a 5-1 record and 205 points. Louisiana State 5-0 took over eighth with 184 points, followed by Oklahoma A. and M. 6-1 and Western Kentucky 5-1. The Aggies dropped from fifth after losing to Colorado.

The leaders on a 10-9-8- etc. basis season records and first place votes in parentheses:

Letter From Tenney — Queen Of The Minors

Pros Fail To Draw — It's Johnson's Story

By C. V. BURNS

Martin D. Tenney, Jr., the "Boy Wonder" of golf at the Cumberland Country Club two decades ago, writes the following from Little Rock, Ark.:

"Dear Sir:

"A friend of mine who lives here and takes the Cumberland paper showed me the article about me which was listed under "As You Were." It sure brought back fond memories so I thought I would drop you a line.

"The weather here is warm and with a few bad days mixed in we play golf the year round.

"I have won 23 tournaments since living here but 1952 was the first year I was able to win the state tournament, although I was finalist four times.

"I am enclosing some of the clippings I have saved since being here and I am sending them for you to read.

"I am district manager for International Correspondence Schools and my oldest son, Martin III, who was born in Cumberland, is a sophomore at the University of Texas.

"Incidentally, I was kidded a lot when Mississippi beat Maryland as I was bragging too much.

"Be sure to give my best regards to "Doc" Heintz, Judge Morgan C. Harris and the other people in Cumberland who were so good and kind to me when I lived there. They just don't make them any better.

"Be sure and send my clippings back. I'll be 40 years old next March and I probably won't win any more tournaments so I wanted to save them.

"Next year I'm coming home to Cumberland and I'm going to bring "Dutch" Harrison with me so tell Judge Harris to get in shape."

Tenney won six spring and fall golf tournaments at the Cumberland Country Club from 1928 to 1932. He was 15 when he captured his first championship.

The Old Germans basketball team will not play any more games until Sunday, January 4, Player-Manager Bob Pence announced last night.

Several of the players are going home for the Yule season and attendance has been so lean that it was deemed best to remain idle during the holidays.

The locals took a loss of $42 on Sunday's game and in the last two games the deficit exceeds $50.

Attendance for the four games played to date is 1,228. The opener attracted 537 followed by 263, 237 and 191. The Old Germans have won three of the four contests.

Funeral services were held Sunday at Nikep for Wilmer Hyde, 43, who died last week at Miners Hospital, Frostburg.

Cecil Warnick yesterday recalled that Hyde played second base for Moscow's championship teams in the Allegany County Baseball League in 1931 and 1932 and also played on Barton and Lonaconing teams. Two years ago Wilmer refereed in the W.M.I. Soccer League. For many years he operated a motor that controlled the cars of the mines at Klondyke.

His widow was Mildred (Mid) Johnson, the star of championship basketball and field ball teams at Central High School, Lonaconing. Three children survive.

Surprise Girl, a winner during the June races at Fairgo, follows in the footsteps of Cushlamachree and Annie's Dream as the "Queen of the Minor Tracks" for 1952.

Dorsey M. Williams, 83-year-old owner of Surprise Girl, paid $2,500 for the daughter of Bless Me-Politigirl, which was a rather good investment in view of her earnings of $15,440 this year.

She has gone postward 24 times and got back to the winner's circle on 11 different afternoons.

Carlyle Johnson, who handled the publicity for the recent race meeting at Charles Town, tells an interesting story about Surprise Girl's owner.

At one time Mr. Williams was master of hounds for the Patapsco Hunt, developed show horses and hunters, acted as a judge at horse shows and reluctantly became acquainted with elephants.

It seems that upon disbandment of a circus there were five pachyderms in need of housing and they were brought to Williams' farm for quartering. One of them suddenly took sick and there was no one in the area familiar with the know how of tending a sick mammal so Williams took on the task. He reasoned that home remedies might do the trick.

Williams said that since whiskey always has been used in the country as a get-better treatment he figured what was good enough for a man was good enough for an elephant. So he got three gallons of liquor, five gallons of cottonseed oil and some nitre and gave it to the elephant. Then the pachyderm passed out.

However, he got well and the Ringling people, who had purchased the quintet as an act, were very thankful, so much so that they sent Williams a check for $1,000.

GWU Wins, 113-87

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP) — George Washington broke its own scoring record, only two nights old, and hung up the most points ever scored against a Duke team, trouncing the Blue here tonight, 113-87.

Joe Holup, 6-foot-6 freshman from Swoyersville, Pa., set a new G.W. scoring record with 33 points, breaking the record of 30 set by his brother, John, two weeks ago against West Virginia.

College Cagers Test Unbeaten Camper Outfit

Keyser Hosts Alumni, Petersburg To Face Thomas In PVC Tilt

Allegany High School's basketeers will be gunning for their third straight victory of the campaign tonight when they do battle with the Alumni on the Campobello court at 8 o'clock.

Coach Walter L. Bowers' Campers got off to a flying start by whipping Piedmont, 54-51, and Somerset, (Pa.) High School, 71-52.

Collegians To Play

Tonight's game should be a real test for the Campers as the Alumni lineup will include at least a half dozen players who are now active in the college ranks. Charles "Whip" Kreitzburg will direct the grads whose lineup is expected to include Ronnie Sisk and John (Junior) Eversole, of Washington College; Russell Robertson, Jack Barham and Ronnie Chapman of Frostburg State Teachers College and Blaine Morton, of Fairmont (W. Va.) State. Herman Lewis, home from the Navy, and others will be seen with the grads. Others home from the service or college desiring to play are requested to contact Kreitzburg.

Bob Pence and Eddie Diehl will officiate.

Thomas At Petersburg

Coach Jesse Riggleman's Petersburg Vikings made their Potomac Valley Conference debut tonight when they play host to Ed Supak's Thomas High Bears on the Petersburg court. Thomas (2-1) opened its P.V.C. campaign with a 55-49 win over Circleville's Indians.

Paw Paw (2-2) plays Herb Yost's Berkeley Springs Indians tonight on the latter's court.

Mt. Savage High School (0-4) goes to Hyndman tonight to meet Coach Chris E. Stoner's Hyndman High cagers who have won two games in nine starts.

Keyser High School hosts the Alumni tonight.

West Virginia Tops Gamecocks

MORGANTOWN, Dec. 22. (AP)—West Virginia University had all it could handle in the first half here tonight, but moved ahead easily in the final periods to defeat South Carolina 91-74 in a Southern Conference basketball clash before 4,000 fans.

It was a see-saw battle in the first two quarters with the lead changing 14 times and the score knotted 10 times. The Mountaineers led 39-35 at half time.

Mack Isner led the game scoring with 20 points for the Mountaineers. Joe Smith was high man for the losers with 18.

WVU and South Carolina tangle again here tomorrow night. Quarter scores:

SOUTH CAROLINA	16	19	20	19—74
WEST VIRGINIA	16	23	21	31—91

Mt. Savage Alumni To Drill Tonight

Mt. Savage Alumni basketeers will practice tonight at Mt. Savage High School at 7 o'clock in preparation for their game with the varsity quint January 2.

George Shaffer is rounding up the graduate team which will be coached by Joe Cunningham of Eckhart.

All players who were graduated from Allegany High and reside in Corriganville or Ellerslie and Beail High graduates from Zihlman and Morantown are eligible to play with the Alumni aggregration. Grads of old Mt. Savage High also may participate.

Motor injuries and fatalities occur at the rate of three a minute in the United States.

As You Were

If you've ever seen Joe Black, the Brooklyn Dodgers' ace of 1952, warm up before a game you'll notice that he takes a position back of the rubber before delivering the ball. The player pictured here did that 30 years ago when he was on the firing line for the Western Maryland Railway team and the Cumberland Colts. Many who saw this fellow pitch still contend that he never has had an equal locally when it came to throwing fast balls. He wasn't the best control pitcher but he really could throw "buck shot." On numerous occasions he whiffed from 14 to 16 batsmen a game. He was a versatile ballplayer, could play any position on the diamond and was a good hitter. After he left Cumberland he played semi-pro baseball around Rochester, N. Y., and he's still a resident of New York State. What's his name?

He's Nate Dreyer, and he seems to be doing O. K. because he's now in the butcher business at Jamestown, N. Y. Walter Drumm hamlets and if you doubt that Dreyer's pitches were jet-propelled consult Walt. The photo was taken in 1920.

Turner Stops Miceli

Parsons Beats Alumni, 46-37

PARSONS, W. Va., Dec. 22—Parsons High School defeated the Alumni tonight by the score of 46 to 37.

Fairbanks, Wilfong and Collett dumped in 37 of the school team's points. Delaney topped the grads' attack with an even dozen tallies. Nineteen Alumni players saw service.

Cartier Held Even

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (INS) — Walter Cartier of Greenwich Village, 161, and Pierre Langlois of France, 159½, battled to a bloody ten-round draw tonight at New York's Eastern Parkway Area.

Although there were no knockdowns, each was in occasional difficulty. Langlois suffered a cut on the bridge of the nose in the second round and bled profusely thereafter.

Mountain Top, Hercules, and Fort Hill were winners in the Western Maryland League's eighth rifle match fired Sunday afternoon at Oakland and Bowman's Addition.

Mountain Top at Oakland defeated Cumberland at Bowman's Addition, 1136 to 1116, in a postal contest. Mountain Top's seventh consecutive victory was paced by Wilson White's 294, the highest individual total fired this season. The losing Queen City shooters were headed by Leo Leasure's 286.

Hercules trounced Avilton, 1103 to 1019, on the local range, as Jim Spitznogle topped the Hercules effort with 284 points. Ken Edwards was best for the losers with a tally of 271.

Frank Simpson's 290 carried the Fort Hill attack against LaVale, 1126 to 1107, revenging a defeat earlier in the season. Bill Whitson was high for LaVale with a score of 283.

Frostburg was not scheduled. The League's next contest will be fired on January 4 at the Bowman's Addition and Grantsville ranges.

Rotary Club At Lonaconing Has Yule Party

LONACONING — The Lonaconing Rotary Club held its Christmas dinner Wednesday evening at the V. F. W. home, for the final meeting of 1952 year.

A turkey dinner was served and carol singing followed. Miss Shirley Burt was pianist for group singing, in the absence of Joseph Derry, club pianist.

Miss Carol Thompson presented her prize-winning essay, "I Speak For Democracy," which gained her second place in the Maryland state contest.

Thomas Staup was program chairman for the evening.

It was announced that no meetings will be held for the next two weeks on account of December 24, Christmas Eve, and December 31, New Year's Eve.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, January 7, at the VFW home.

Brethren Group Has Yule Party In Westernport

WESTERNPORT — A Christmas party featured the regular meeting of the Women's Work Organization of the Church of the Brethren held recently in the church annex. Husbands of the members were guests.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Shimer, relief chairman, reported 24 flannel gowns and 12 slips members made as gifts for relief will be soon ready for shipment to New Windsor. Material is also being purchased for making pillow slips and sheets for the same purpose. More blankets are also being donated.

Mrs. Vi Randall, president, stated the crafts class will be held the third week-end in January with Mrs. David Hanawalt, New Windson, as instructor.

Entertainment included readings, carols and poems in keeping with Christmas with Mrs. Shimeer, Mrs. Olive Lambert and Mrs. Alice Sager in charge.

Games were conducted by Mrs. Nellie Bonner and Mrs. Pearl Amoruso. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Delsie Combs, Mrs. Virgil Cosner and Mrs. Thelma Dettra.

The rooms were decorated with a tree trimmed by Mrs. Bertha Hackett, Mrs. Dorothea Rhodes and Mrs. Leona Smallwood.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22 (INS)—Our happy young bride-to-be, Ann Blyth, (she is marrying Dr. James McNulty) stars in "Indian Love Call" as her first when she checks in at MGM. My friend, Director Mervyn LeRoy, is completely sold on Ann as a singer and as a talented young actress.

He tells me that the script of "Rosemarie," on which "Indian Love Call" is based, bears small resemblance to either the stage play or the movie, which originally starred Jeanette MacDonald.

Dore Schary has signed Marjorie Main for one of the top comedy roles, and, of course, that's a sure sign it will not be missing in humor.

You may or may not know that Ann Sheridan speaks Spanish like a native, loves Mexico, loves the food and the lazy life below the border. All this may add up to Annie leaving soon for Mexico City to make two pictures with Tito Guizar and his guitar.

Tito has four pictures on the fire, two to be made for the Calderon Productions and two for Azteca Films. The films Ann is interested in are for Calderon.

Actors and directors returning from making movies in Mexico tell me that the studio facilities there are finer and more modern than any place outside of Hollywood.

One of the best movies the late John Gilbert and Eleanor Boardman ever made when they were reigning stars at MGM was Rafael Sabatini's "Bardeleyes, the Magnificent." It was before sound came along and ruined Gilbert's career and he was wonderful as the dashing adventurer of the court of Louis XIII.

Now Harry Cohn, of Columbia, is reviving the classic and has turned it over to Lewis Rachmil to produce.

So far — no cast, but it will take a swashbuckling type star to fill the boots of John Gilbert who out Douglased-Doug Fairbanks in the role.

There were unashamed tears in the eyes of Van Johnson, when he and Eve went to a school play, and his little daughter, Schuyler, five years old, sang "Little Lord Jesus Asleep in the Hay."

Betty Grable and Brian Donlevy also were there to see their prides and joys, and Adela Rogers St. John's grandchild, Christie, also took part in the festivities. Adela said all of them, just like parents and grandparents all over the world, beamed with pride when their children sang Christmas carols or spoke appropriate little pieces.

Certainly one of the most unusual Christmas presents of the season has been ordered by Elizabeth Taylor's father for Liz and Mike. It's a spotterscope, from an Army surplus store. If you don't know what a spotterscope is—it's 10 times more powerful and accurate than the most high powered binoculars, permitting the most close-up view of distances.

John Lindsay and Diana Lynn, I'm happy to say, were at a table for two at the Mocambo and very lovey-dovey. I do hope these two youngsters hang on to their marriage.

Mel Ferrer joins Gregory Peck Jan. 2 in Paris for a two-week automobile tour. Then he takes off for Morocco and his assignment in "Saadia."

Sophie Tucker, who values her record collection more than family jewels, has turned over the platter to Betty Hutton. The collection dates back to 1909.

Bing Crosby and Peter Lind Hayes might like to know that the Calogero paintings they bought in Paris now have an added value. They are being exhibited by the Associated American Art Gallery.

Ella Raines, who will have a baby in three months, is retiring from TV until after her baby is born. She's been a leading lady right up to a week ago when she finished "Janet Dean, Registered Nurse."

Of interest in TV circles is the Douglas Fairbanks Theatre of the Air, starring Douglas, of course. Don Sharp, who originally packaged the "I Love Lucy" show and "Four Star Playhouse," is the producer.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Paul Robeson Wins Stalin Peace Prize

MOSCOW, Dec. 22 (AP) — Paul Robeson, American Negro singer and actor, today was named a winner of the Stalin Peace Prize for the "strengthening of peace between peoples."

The Stalin Peace Prize, a top honor among the Soviets and their friends in other countries, was established three years ago on Stalin's 70th birthday. The Russians give the ruble the arbitrary value of 25 U. S. cents.

Red Press Ignores Stalin's Birthday

MOSCOW, Dec. 22 (AP)—Josef Vissarionovich Stalin became 73 today. Moscow papers made no mention of the event but gave top play to the Stalin international peace awards annually made public on his birthday.

The four occasions were on May Day, on Soviet Air Force Day last summer, on the stage of the Bolshoi Theater Nov. 6 when he sat with other Soviet leaders, and in Red Square Nov. 7 when he reviewed a parade marking the 35th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22 (INS)—Our happy young bride-to-be, Ann Blyth, (she is marrying Dr. James McNulty) stars in "Indian Love Call" as her first when she checks in at MGM. My friend, Director Mervyn LeRoy, is completely sold on Ann as a singer and as a talented young actress.

He tells me that the script of "Rosemarie," on which "Indian Love Call" is based, bears small resemblance to either the stage play or the movie, which originally starred Jeanette MacDonald.

Dore Schary has signed Marjorie Main for one of the top comedy roles, and, of course, that's a sure sign it will not be missing in humor.

You may or may not know that Ann Sheridan speaks Spanish like a native, loves Mexico, loves the food and the lazy life below the border. All this may add up to Annie leaving soon for Mexico City to make two pictures with Tito Guizar and his guitar.

Tito has four pictures on the fire, two to be made for the Calderon Productions and two for Azteca Films. The films Ann is interested in are for Calderon.

Actors and directors returning from making movies in Mexico tell me that the studio facilities there are finer and more modern than any place outside of Hollywood.

One of the best movies the late John Gilbert and Eleanor Boardman ever made when they were reigning stars at MGM was Rafael Sabatini's "Bardeleyes, the Magnificent." It was before sound came along and ruined Gilbert's career and he was wonderful as the dashing adventurer of the court of Louis XIII.

Now Harry Cohn, of Columbia, is reviving the classic and has turned it over to Lewis Rachmil to produce.

So far — no cast, but it will take a swashbuckling type star to fill the boots of John Gilbert who out Douglased-Doug Fairbanks in the role.

There were unashamed tears in the eyes of Van Johnson, when he and Eve went to a school play, and his little daughter, Schuyler, five years old, sang "Little Lord Jesus Asleep in the Hay."

Betty Grable and Brian Donlevy also were there to see their prides and joys, and Adela Rogers St. John's grandchild, Christie, also took part in the festivities. Adela said all of them, just like parents and grandparents all over the world, beamed with pride when their children sang Christmas carols or spoke appropriate little pieces.

Certainly one of the most unusual Christmas presents of the season has been ordered by Elizabeth Taylor's father for Liz and Mike. It's a spotterscope, from an Army surplus store. If you don't know what a spotterscope is—it's 10 times more powerful and accurate than the most high powered binoculars, permitting the most close-up view of distances.

Liz and Mike can gaze out as far as the Pacific Ocean from their hilltop home, if they so desire.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

John Lindsay and Diana Lynn, I'm happy to say, were at a table for two at the Mocambo and very lovey-dovey. I do hope these two youngsters hang on to their marriage.

Mel Ferrer joins Gregory Peck Jan. 2 in Paris for a two-week automobile tour. Then he takes off for Morocco and his assignment in "Saadia."

Sophie Tucker, who values her record collection more than family jewels, has turned over the platter to Betty Hutton. The collection dates back to 1909.

Maria Montez' younger sister, Teresita, has started a movie career in Paris.

Bing Crosby and Peter Lind Hayes might like to know that the Calogero paintings they bought in Paris now have an added value. They are being exhibited by the Associated American Art Gallery.

Ella Raines, who will have a baby in three months, is retiring from TV until after her baby is born. She's been a leading lady right up to a week ago when she finished "Janet Dean, Registered Nurse."

Of interest in TV circles is the Douglas Fairbanks Theatre of the Air, starring Douglas, of course. Don Sharp, who originally packaged the "I Love Lucy" show and "Four Star Playhouse," is the producer.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Paul Robeson Wins Stalin Peace Prize

MOSCOW, Dec. 22 (AP) — Paul Robeson, American Negro singer and actor, today was named a winner of the Stalin Peace Prize for the "strengthening of peace between peoples."

Robeson was one of seven winners, each from a different country, who received the 100,000-ruble awards on Prime Minister Stalin's 73rd birthday.

The Stalin Peace Prize, a top honor among the Soviets and their friends in other countries, was established three years ago on Stalin's 70th birthday. The Russians give the ruble the arbitrary value of 25 U. S. cents.

Red Press Ignores Stalin's Birthday

MOSCOW, Dec. 22 (AP)—Josef Vissarionovich Stalin became 73 today. Moscow papers made no mention of the event but gave top play to the Stalin international peace awards annually made public on his birthday.

I have seen the Soviet leader close-up four times this year and found his appearance little changed from when I first saw him 11 years ago.

The four occasions were on May Day, on Soviet Air Force Day last summer, on the stage of the Bolshoi Theater Nov. 6 when he sat with other Soviet leaders, and in Red Square Nov. 7 when he reviewed a parade marking the 35th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

Volume production of gas ranges in the United States started in 1898.

NEW YORK—(INS)—This is the season when good words reawaken wondrous feelings in the hearts of men. Here are some good words recently encountered—curiously enough in areas dedicated to massive destruction.

Gordon Dean, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and chief custodian of the A-bomb stockpile, made a speech the other day at Brookhaven National Laboratory (out on Long Island on the site where, among other things, Pvt. "No ray of sunlight is ever lost, but the green which it awakes into existence needs time to sprout, and it is not always granted to the sower to see the harvest. All work that is worth anything is done in faith."

He quoted, too, from another great man, J. Robert Oppenheimer, the thoughtful young wearer of the pork-pie hat who did more to create the A-bomb than any other scientist.

"It is true," Oppenheimer told a congressional committee at the end of the war which the A-bomb brought to a violent close, "that we learned a lot during the war. But the things we learned were not very important. The real things were learned in 1890 and 1905 and 1920—in every year leading up to the war. And we took this tree with a lot of ripe fruit on it and shook it hard, and out came radar and atomic bombs."

Comdr. George Conkey, of Los Angeles, executive officer of the U.S.S. Helena, in which Gen. Eisenhower made part of his trip home from Korea, has forwarded me the message the skipper—Capt. W. L. Dyer — sent to the men as the Helena neared Long Beach at the end of a seven month tour of war duty.

"You have stood long hours of condition watches during which you assisted in destroying the Communist aggressor in Korea with our five and eight inch batteries and have had the personal satisfaction of being present to rescue survivors of air battles, combat pilots downed at sea and far inside enemy territory. You have welcomed aboard and treated the wounded from other vessels. You have controlled fighter aircraft on their patrols and have efficiently used our radars to guide the ship on hazardous missions and in difficult situations.

"You have kept our ship, its engines, its machinery, its electronic and mechanical equipment in full and complete repair; you have polished her, painted her and scrubbed her, and operated her so that she has been more than a credit to the fleet. You have had the opportunity to enjoy liberty in foreign ports and have earned the good will of their citizens.

"The hours have been long and the work has been hard, but they have not been in vain. Yours has been a successful cruise which has directly contributed to the success of the United Nations forces in Korea. The leave and liberty to which you are looking forward have been well earned—enjoy it!

". . . While on leave and liberty conduct yourself as becomes your importance. If in uniform, wear it proudly and correctly. Take pride in your accomplishments. You are a professional Navy man. It is incumbent upon you to act and dress like one . . . The first leave party will depart shortly after our arrival in Long Beach. Therefore, while you are all aboard, I will take this opportunity as your captain to wish you all, wherever you go, a very merry Christmas and a happy New Year."

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to friends, relatives and neighbors for their kind consideration and comforting words during the illness and following the death of our dear one, Kathleen Twigg. Especially do we want to thank those who offered their services as pallbearers, who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral, the singers and Rev. Frank Fratto for his comforting words.

Twigg Family

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to friends, relatives, and neighbors for their kind consideration and comforting words following the death of our dear one, Mary Rosella Stewart. We also wish to thank those who offered their services as pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral. We especially wish to thank Rev. B. F. Hartman for his comforting words.

William R. Stewart & Family.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to friends, relatives and neighbors for their kind consideration and comforting words during the illness and following the death of our dear one, Kathleen Twigg. Especially do we want to thank those who offered their services as pallbearers, who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral, the singers and Rev. Frank Fratto for his comforting words.

Twigg Family

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to friends, relatives, and neighbors for their kind consideration and comforting words following the death of our dear one, Mary Rosella Stewart. We also wish to thank those who offered their services as pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral. We especially wish to thank Rev. B. F. Hartman for his comforting words.

William R. Stewart & Family.

LA VALE

The lovely new 2-story 6-room cement finished dwelling along National Highway, opposite Cash Valley Road. This property must be seen to be fully appreciated. Owner built same for his own home and is most complete, modern and represents the very best of construction. This property naturally represents a heavy investment but owner is willing to sell (due to locating in another city) at less than cost. Builder spent considerable time and effort in purchasing the best material at the lowest figures and taking advantage of every discount. Liberal financing can be arranged and early possession of the property can be given the purchaser.

"(e) If the actual cost of the construction of such extension or addition, inclusive of the cost of the land, is $5,000,000 or more, for a period of 20 years from the date of the commencement of the construction of such extension or addition.

"The advantage of this form of tax exemption law is that no exemption could be allowed unless a definite amount of money is actually to be spent in Allegany County for the expansion or addition to a plant. This will not affect in any way the assessable basis of the county for tax purposes because it is not retroactive, and it will be written into the law that mere replacements of worn out equipment will not be considered as an expansion or addition to a plant.

"I believe that if such an act could be passed by the Legislature this coming session it will encourage some plant expansion in our county that we need."

Merry-Go-Round

tude is supposed to be shipped back to his homeland. As a result, the young woman would have been exiled to Malta, a strange country that she had never known, if Langer hadn't intervened.

These are typical of the favors the big, affable North Dakotan has done for aliens. However, a Judiciary Committee agent, in search of something to pin on Langer, is secretly checking the list of aliens that Langer has aided, with the House Un-American Activities Committee files to see if any of them has a subversive background.

Most active in the backstage maneuver to unseat Langer is the man who is next in line to rule the Judiciary Committee, Michigan's windy, white-haired Sen. Homer Ferguson. Like the bridesmaid who never becomes a bride, Ferguson is second in seniority to both the Appropriations and Judiciary committees.

He hopefully pestered the office of New Hampshire's Sen. Styles Bridges, the senior Appropriations chairmanship to serve as majority leader. However, Bridges won't budge. This leaves the Judiciary chairmanship as Ferguson's last chance.

Backstage Maneuvers

The GOP leadership would rather reward faithful Ferguson than the maverick Langer, but it can't be done under the Senate's seniority rules unless Langer can be forced to step aside. As a result, the Republican old guard is working with Joe Bridston of Grand Forks, N. D., to bring charges that might possibly block Langer from taking his seat.

NOTE—If Langer takes over as Judiciary chairman next month, his first move probably will be to fire the investigator who has been trying to dig up dirt on him. And if he doesn't know the investigator's name, this column will be glad to supply it.

Taft favors could only be achieved by sharply reducing defense force levels and cancelling defense contracts. After a good look at some of the skeletons he will find in the White House closet, Eisenhower is not likely to be eager to take this sort of risk. But the spending cuts are very dear to Taft's heart, and one can almost hear the Taftian explosion in advance, if Eisenhower refuses to make them. Even so, a congressional headcount strongly suggests that Eisenhower will have his way if he wants to, explosion or no explosion. This is why it is at least barely possible that the explosion will not come after all.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, Dec. 22 (AP)—An agriculture department report of a sharp drop in pig production this past autumn, with an even larger drop predicted for next spring, put a severe puncture into a grain market which had been rising today.

The market did a reversal after the pig crop report came out.

Corn gave up all its gains and substituted quite large losses. Advances in wheat and soybeans were severely shaved.

Closing prices:

WHEAT: March 2.36⅝-¾; May 2.40¼-⅜; July 2.39⅞; September 2.42¼.

CORN: March 1.65⅝-½; May 1.68⅞-69; July 1.71¾-⅞; September 1.71¼.

OATS: March 87-87⅛; May 86¼-⅜; July 84½; September 84⅛.

RYE: May 2.00⅛-¼; July 2.02; September 2.02½; March 1.95¾.

SOYBEANS: January 3.01½-01; March 3.03½-¼; May 3.03¼; July 3.01½-¼; September 2.90¼.

LARD: January 9.97; March 10.35; May 10.70; July 11.05; September 11.20.

CASH WHEAT: None. Corn: No. 2 yellow 1.64-64¾; No. 3, 1.55¾-64; No. 4, 1.52¼-63; No. 5, 1.46¼-61. Oats: No. 1 heavy white 96; Barley nominal: Malting 1.35-80; feed 1.25-45. Stocks, In Third Broadest Market, Hit New '52 Peaks

NEW YORK, Dec. 22. (AP)—Stocks reached new 1952 peaks today in one of the broadest markets on record.

There were 1,242 individual issues on the tape, a total exceeded only twice before, on Jan. 10, 1951, when 1,253 issues were traded and on June 27, 1950, when an all-time record 1,260 issues were in the list.

The boost of the AP average of 60 stocks by 80 cents to $115.60 was accomplished by a rise of 60 cents in the industrial component, a rise of $1.20 in the railroads, and a rise of 10 cents in the utilities.

Railroads had it all their own way in the most active list with seven out of ten issues.

It was followed by New York Central up ¾ at 23, Pepsi-Cola up ¼ at 11¼, Baltimore & Ohio up 1¼ at 28⅝, and Alleghany Corp. up ⅛ at 5⅛.

Gainers included the Milwaukee Road up ½ at 21¾, Southern Railway 1 at 82¾, Southern Pacific 1 at 47¼, Seaboard Railroad 2 at 115, Standard Oil (NJ) 1¼ at 77, Gulf Oil 1 at 50⅞, American Telephone ¾ at 157¾, Union Carbide ⅞ at 70⅞, Chrysler ½ at 88¾, Goodyear 1⅝ at 53, International Harvester 1 at 33, National Distillers ¼ at 22⅛, and Textron ⅝ at 11¼.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

LA VALE

The lovely new 2-story 6-room cement finished dwelling along National Highway, opposite Cash Valley Road. This property must be seen to be fully appreciated. Owner built same for his own home and is most complete, modern and represents the very best of construction. This property naturally represents a heavy investment but owner is willing to sell (due to locating in another city) at less than cost. Builder spent considerable time and effort in purchasing the best material at the lowest figures and taking advantage of every discount. Liberal financing can be arranged and early possession of the property can be given the purchaser.

"(e) If the actual cost of the construction of such extension or addition, inclusive of the cost of the land, is $5,000,000 or more, for a period of 20 years from the date of the commencement of the construction of such extension or addition.

"The advantage of this form of tax exemption law is that no exemption could be allowed unless a definite amount of money is actually to be spent in Allegany County for the expansion or addition to a plant. This will not affect in any way the assessable basis of the county for tax purposes because it is not retroactive, and it will be written into the law that mere replacements of worn out equipment will not be considered as an expansion or addition to a plant.

"I believe that if such an act could be passed by the Legislature this coming session it will encourage some plant expansion in our county that we need."

tude is supposed to be shipped back to his homeland. As a result, the young woman would have been exiled to Malta, a strange country that she had never known, if Langer hadn't intervened.

These are typical of the favors the big, affable North Dakotan has done for aliens. However, a Judiciary Committee agent, in search of something to pin on Langer, is secretly checking the list of aliens that Langer has aided, with the House Un-American Activities Committee files to see if any of them has a subversive background.

Most active in the backstage maneuver to unseat Langer is the man who is next in line to rule the Judiciary Committee, Michigan's windy, white-haired Sen. Homer Ferguson. Like the bridesmaid who never becomes a bride, Ferguson is second in seniority to both the Appropriations and Judiciary committees.

He hopefully pestered the office of New Hampshire's Sen. Styles Bridges, the senior Appropriations chairmanship to serve as majority leader. However, Bridges won't budge. This leaves the Judiciary chairmanship as Ferguson's last chance.

Backstage Maneuvers

The GOP leadership would rather reward faithful Ferguson than the maverick Langer, but it can't be done under the Senate's seniority rules unless Langer can be forced to step aside. As a result, the Republican old guard is working with Joe Bridston of Grand Forks, N. D., to bring charges that might possibly block Langer from taking his seat.

NOTE—If Langer takes over as Judiciary chairman next month, his first move probably will be to fire the investigator who has been trying to dig up dirt on him. And if he doesn't know the investigator's name, this column will be glad to supply it.

Taft favors could only be achieved by sharply reducing defense force levels and cancelling defense contracts. After a good look at some of the skeletons he will find in the White House closet, Eisenhower is not likely to be eager to take this sort of risk. But the spending cuts are very dear to Taft's heart, and one can almost hear the Taftian explosion in advance, if Eisenhower refuses to make them. Even so, a congressional headcount strongly suggests that Eisenhower will have his way if he wants to, explosion or no explosion. This is why it is at least barely possible that the explosion will not come after all.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, Dec. 22 (AP)—An agriculture department report of a sharp drop in pig production this past autumn, with an even larger drop predicted for next spring, put a severe puncture into a grain market which had been rising today.

The market did a reversal after the pig crop report came out.

Corn gave up all its gains and substituted quite large losses. Advances in wheat and soybeans were severely shaved.

Closing prices:

WHEAT: March 2.36⅝-⅜; May 2.40¼-⅜; July 2.39⅛; September 2.42¼.

Stocks, In Third Broadest Market, Hit New '52 Peaks

NEW YORK, Dec. 22. (AP)—Stocks reached new 1952 peaks today in one of the broadest markets on record.

Railroads with generous help from the oils provided the power behind the best advance of the month.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 80 cents and closed at $115.60, highest of the year and best since June 4, 1930.

There were 1,242 individual issues on the tape, a total exceeded only twice before, on Jan. 10, 1951, when 1,253 issues were traded and on June 27, 1950, when an all-time record 1,260 issues were in the list.

The boost of the AP average of 60 stocks by 80 cents to $115.60 was accomplished by a rise of 60 cents in the industrial component, a rise of $1.20 in the railroads, and a rise of 10 cents in the utilities.

Railroads had it all their own way in the most active list with seven out of ten issues.

Pennsylvania Railroad was at the top up 1⅛ at 23½.

It was followed by New York Central up ¾ at 23, Pepsi-Cola up ¼ at 11¼, Baltimore & Ohio up 1¼ at 28⅝, and Alleghany Corp. up ⅛ at 5⅛.

Alleghany Corp. owns a majority of Missouri Pacific common. The MoPac preferred zoomed up 7⅝ at 58½ as the day's sixth most active issue.

3 Die In Car-Truck Crash On U.S. 220

Infant Among Dead In Wreck In Mineral Co.

Two Women Killed; Two Men Injured

Two women and a seven-months-old infant were killed yesterday afternoon when their car skidded and struck a truck on U. S. Route 220 just south of Keyser, W. Va. Two other persons were critically injured.

The dead:

Mrs. Ruth Madeline Hawk, 27, of Scherr, W. Va., believed to have been the driver of the car.

Her only child, William Hawk Jr., seven months.

Miss Mabel B. Reel, 24, of Elk Garden, W. Va., a sister to Mrs. Hawk.

Injured were:

Donald E. Taylor, 22, of Ridgeville, W. Va., who was riding in the car.

Frank D. Criser, 51, Antioch, driver of the truck.

Taylor was in "very critical" condition late last night at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser. Attaches said both had possible skull fractures. Criser's condition was listed as "good."

Car Hit Broadside

West Virginia State Police at Keyser said the accident happened at 2:30 p. m. about a mile south of Keyser near the Boggs Supply Company.

The car, apparently driven by Mrs. Hawk, was traveling south when it skidded and went out of control on the wet pavement as it rounded a bend.

The machine ran up an embankment and careened back onto the road, skidding into the path of Criser's half-ton truck. Police said Criser's truck hit the car broadside as it skidded into his northbound traffic lane.

All three victims apparently were killed outright, according to State Police. The car was knocked off the highway and onto the bank of New Creek.

The Rogers Funeral Home ambulance took the victims to the Keyser hospital, where they were pronounced dead on arrival. All had fractured skulls.

Natives Of Elk Garden

Mrs. Hawk, wife of William Hawk Sr., was a native of Elk Garden. She was born April 3, 1925, the daughter of Mrs. Annie Reel and the late Mr. Reel.

Her husband, who had been working in Detroit, recently returned to Scherr. The couple had no other children.

Mrs. Hawk and Miss Reel are survived, besides their mother, by six brothers, Guy, Roy, Charles and Frank Reel, all of Elk Garden; Martin Reel, Washington, and Lee Reel, stationed with the Army in Colorado, and one sister, Mrs. Howard Knotts of Baltimore.

The bodies of Mrs. Hawk and her son were taken to the Rogers Funeral Home at Blaine, W. Va.

CAR IN WHICH THREE DIED—This 1950 sedan in which three persons were killed yesterday about a mile south of Keyser, W. Va., was virtually demolished after being struck broadside by a half-ton pickup truck on U. S. Route 220. State police identified the dead as Mrs. Ruth Hawk, 27, of Scherr, W. Va.; her sister, Miss Mabel Reel, 25, of Elk Garden, W. Va., and Mrs. Hawk's 7-months-old son, William, Jr. A fourth passenger, Donald R. Taylor, was taken unconscious to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser. Police said the sedan apparently skidded on wet paving and careened into oncoming traffic, was struck by the truck driven by Frank D. Crizer, 51, Antioch, W. Va. Criser was hospitalized with a possible fractured skull.

Crash Survivor Seeks $20,000 In Two Suits

Other Five In Car Died In Accident

James Thompson of Piedmont, W. Va., the sole surviving passenger among six persons who were riding in a car which crashed on McMullen Highway August 31, yesterday filed two suits seeking a total of $20,000 damages in Allegany County Circuit Court.

These latest suits bring to eight, asking a total of $126,000 damages, that have been filed as a result of the tragic accident which took the lives of five Tri-Towns young men. All of the suits have been filed by Attorney Horace P. Whitworth, Jr.

New Jerseyans Named

One $10,000 suit by Thompson named Lewis Howard Allwine and Lewis Thomas Allwine, both of Highland Park, N. J., as defendants. The other $10,000 action was filed against James Moran, administrator of the estate of Richard Moran. Richard Moran was the owner of the car in which Thompson was riding and was one of the five victims of the crash

In the Allwine suit, Thompson states that Lewis Thomas Allwine was the owner of a car which his son, Lewis Howard Allwine was driving along McMullen Highway in the early morning hours of August 31. While south of Cresaptown and traveling toward that community, Allwine pulled off the left side of the highway but left his headlights burning. Thompson's declaration says that the shining headlights apparently confused Timothy Gilmore, who was driving Moran's car toward Rawlings, and a collision resulted.

Owner's Duty Cited

In the other declaration, Thompson states that it was Richard Moran's duty to drive or cause his automobile to be driven in a careful and prudent manner. Nevertheless, Timothy Gilmore, acted as Moran's agent and servant, drove the car at an excessively high and unlawful rate of speed.

Thompson contends that he received serious, dangerous and permanent injuries to his head, body and limbs as a result of the tragic accident and incurred great expenses for hospital service, medical and surgical care.

A $500 suit also was docketed yesterday. John J. Workman, for his own use and the use of Fidelity and Guaranty Insurance Corporation, Baltimore, seeks damages from Joseph Lewis. In the declaration, filed by Attorneys William A. Gunter and William J. Gunter, the plaintiff states that Lewis, while driving east on Main Street in Frostburg, collided with a parked motor vehicle owned by Workman last February 21. Fidelity and Guaranty Insurance Corporation subsequently paid Workman $171.27 for damages to his vehicle.

Kelly-Springfield Co. Denies OPS Violation

Attorneys File Reply To Petition

Kelly-Springfield Tire Company denied in court yesterday that it ever had violated federal ceiling prices for its tires or had refused to allow inspection of its records by the Office of Price Stabilization.

The denials came in answer to a petition by the OPS, which is asking Federal Court at Baltimore to order the company to bring in its records.

OPS spokesmen last week told Judge W. Calvin Chesnut that Kelly-Springfield had denied the federal agency access to certain records. The company was ordered to answer the charges in the OPS petition.

Not Enough Time

Attorneys William C. Walsh of Cumberland and Harrison L. Winter of Baltimore filed the company's answer yesterday, saying the OPS did not grant the company a reasonable length of time in which to comply with a subpoena for its records.

Walsh said the company's answer stated that the company was allowed only three days in which to produce records that could have been compiled only by examining nearly 100,000 invoices.

The attorney said it would have been impossible to find a simpler way in which to give OPS the information it wanted, since OPS had asked for records concerning sales of only certain types of tires.

Arose Last Summer

The dispute, said the company, arose last summer after OPS began investigating sales of certain types of tires by Kelly and other firms to determine if there had been any ceiling price violations.

Walsh said the company was told last Oct. 3 that it would not be required to furnish complete records until its discussions with OPS were completed. The discussions, he said, are still going on.

On December 8, the company served a subpoena requiring Kelly-Springfield to deliver records covering certain sales for more than eight months. The records were to be delivered three days later, by December 11.

The company said it asked for an extension of time, but this request was denied. OPS then went into court to force Kelly to turn over its records.

No date has been set for a hearing in the case.

Hitchcock May Get Full Time Position At Dam

Effect On Smoke Abatement In Doubt

City officials received a proposal yesterday to hire George M. Hitchcock as full time superintendent of the city's water system when his contract as smoke abatement engineer and superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company expires next month.

The plan, proposed by the water company, was explained to the Council yesterday morning by Mayor Roy W. Eves, one of the officials of the Pennsylvania corporation which operates the city's water system at Lake Gordon.

The proposal calls for a one-year renewal of Hitchcock's contract on January 15 at his present salary of $6,500, all of which would be paid by the City Water Department.

Agrees To Plan

The water company now pays $4,000 for the position of superintendent of the water plant and the city adds $2,500 for Hitchcock's work as smoke abatement engineer.

Mayor Eves said Hitchcock has agreed to the plan which would allow him to devote his full time supervising the city's water system.

The position was a full time job until 1947, when the city offered Hitchcock both jobs as an incentive, since it was necessary to secure a qualified engineer to operate the water system.

It was indicated that action on the proposal may be taken at Monday's council meeting.

There were indications yesterday that, had a vote been taken immediately, the proposal would have been accepted.

Want Full Details

But Commissioners Lucile W. Roeder and John J. Long questioned the effect of the move on the Smoke Abatement Department.

They said they wanted to secure full particulars on the smoke program before a vote is taken.

Under consideration for some time has been a plan to turn the smoke engineer's duties over to Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, when Hitchcock is given a full time position at Lake Gordon.

The other member of the Smoke Abatement Department, Charles Owens, deputy smoke inspector, has a one-year contract which expires in February.

Under the plan which would turn the smoke engineer's duties over to the city engineer, Owens would be retained in his present duties.

Local 26 Calls Conferences On Pact Revision

Special meetings have been scheduled by Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastics Workers of America (CIO), to plan proposed changes in the local's contract with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

William G. Rice, president, said the first of the meetings will be held Sunday, December 28, at 6 p. m. in the TWUA-CIO hall.

This meeting will be for members of Division I to IV inclusive.

The second meeting, planned in the TWUA hall on January 4 at 6 p. m., will be for members of Divisions 5, 6 and 7.

The present pact with the tire company is slated to expire on March 1.

Recommendations made at the meetings will be turned over to the Contract Negotiation committee. Members are C. E. O'Baker and Ralph C. Beard, for production workers; Leo Barkman and George Simmons, for maintenance, and Rice, who as president is a member of the committee.

Condition Of Jenkins Is Reported "Good"

Leonard R. Jenkins, 21, Mt. Savage sailor, is in "good" condition at Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where he was admitted Sunday following an auto accident along Route 36 near Zihlman.

His car was reported to have careened from the highway, knocked down a telephone pole and upset. He suffered a possible skull fracture, internal injuries and facial lacerations. X-rays have been taken, attaches said last night.

Driver Is Jailed

A South Cumberland man was jailed last night on a charge of driving without a license after police said he was found driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

Donald Joseph Cavey, 1304 Virginia Avenue, who forfeited bond October 20 when he failed to appear for a hearing on a similar charge, was arrested on South Chase Street at 7:45 p. m. by Officer Edward Hite. He was lodged in City Jail.

Tragedy Hits Third Time In Leonard Bailey Family

Yesterday afternoon tragedy struck for the third time in the past 12 years in the family of Leonard A. Bailey, of near Paw Paw.

Bailey, 48-year-old laborer of the Consolidated Orchard Company of that community, was killed instantly about 12:30 p. m., three miles west of Paw Paw along the Great Cacapon Road, when his pickup truck upset and pinned him underneath.

About two years ago a daughter was killed in a sled accident at Woodrow. Twelve years ago a son was drowned in the Potomac River near Paw Paw.

Bailey was reported driving the truck from his home to Paw Paw when the accident occured near the residence of Mrs. Rufus Largent, who went to the scene and notified authorities. Members of the Paw Paw Volunteer Fire Department answered the alarm, took the ambulance to the scene. Bailey was dead when they arrived.

Preliminary investigation by Sgt. Thomas Harrison, of the West Virginia State Police at Romney, disclosed that Bailey, driving "an old car with a panel bed, like a truck," apparently careened from the road on a curve, hit an enbankment and overturning, pinning him underneath.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Emily Pearl Bailey; four children; his mother, Mrs. Lucy Bailey, Pinoak; a brother, Elmer Bailey, with the U. S. Army in Germany.

Three sisters, Mrs. Lillie Divilbliss, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. Norma Helmick, Woodrow and Mrs. Virginia Cowgill, Pinoak, also he was a son of the late Thomas Bailey.

Mr. Bailey was a member of the Christian Church of Paw Paw.

Residents Urged To Enter Yule Lighting Contest

The Christmas lighting committee of the Junior Association of Commerce yesterday urged homeowners to enter the annual contest before the deadline passes tomorrow.

Committee members said several more entries were added to the lists yesterday, but applications still are below expectations.

No elaborate decorations are necessary to qualify a home for consideratiton in the contest, the committee said. Prizes will be given in two classifications which have been set up to cover large and small displays alike.

Even a string of lights over a doorway or window is enough to qualify a prospective contestant for judging. First and second prizes will be awarded in both the home and garden class and the doorway and window group. Five honorable mentions also will be given in each class.

Applications may be filed by sending a postcard to the Jaycee office in Liberty Trust Building, or by telephoning Perry Shaffer at 2481-W.

Eligible for the contest are all homes in Cumberland, LaVale to Six Mile House, Braddock and Winchester Road areas, McMullen Highway to Cresaptown, Bedford Road to the state line, and Oldtown Road to the city limits.

Judging will be conducted Monday, December 29, and lights must be left on between 7 and 11 p. m. that day. Judges will be Thomas B. Finan, Mrs. Margaret Findlay and Lynn C. Lashley.

Dentists Will Meet

The Allegany-Garrett Dental Society will hold a dinner meeting at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club on January 7 at 6:30 p. m., Dr. Karl W. Kolb, secretary, reported yesterday.

Births

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Barger, Christie Road, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Brooks, Ridgeley, a son yesterday.

Sacred Heart Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Willison, Corriganville, a son yesterday.

Court To Close

Trial Magistrates Court will be closed for a long holiday this weekend beginning Christmas Day and extending to Monday, December 29. Normally the court would be open all day Friday and Saturday until noon, but as Friday has been declared a legal holiday officials have decided not to open again until Monday.

Protest W. Md. Plans To End Passenger Runs

About 800 persons have protested the move by Western Maryland Railway to end its passenger service.

The Public Service Commission said more than 600 of those were contatined in a petition from the Frederick County area.

The number of persons who want the passenger trains kept in service is far greater than the railway's patrons, if Cumberland is taken as an example.

Western Maryland says it has been losing money on all its passenger train runs, as much as $450,000 a year. Usually the train carries no more than three passengers when it pulls in and out of Cumberland. Even the train crew is bigger than that.

The once bustling service has dwindled steadily until now there is only one round trip weekdays between Baltimore and Cumberland, one round trip between Baltimore and Hagerstown and a daily round trip commuter service between Baltimore and Union Bridge, Md.

Post Office Has Its Busiest Day

Post Office officials last night said that business yesterday was the heaviest of the Christmas season with many late mailers bringing packages and parcels for delivery to the overworked staff.

Although final figures were not tabulated last night Thomas B. Cumiskey, Jr., assistant postmaster, noted the last minute rush to get off packages and letters for Christmas seemed much heavier yesterday than at any time during previous weeks.

Overall the general trend for mailing cards and parcels seems to be keeping about even with the Christmas rush of last year. Approximately the same number of mail cancellations have been made this December as in December of 1951, Cumiskey noted.

He added, however, that many of the late packages which were handled yesterday may not arrive in time for Christmas because of the heavy influx of business.

Woman Missing Since Saturday

State Police said last night they are trying to locate a local mother who has been missing from her home since Saturday afternoon.

Missing is Mrs. Odessa Frances (Molinari) Meister, 35, of 104 Columbia Street. She is five feet, four inches tall, weighs about 120 pounds, has black hair and brown eyes, medium build and dark complexion.

The missing woman's husband, Thomas Meister, told police she left home at 2 p. m. Saturday to go to work on the 3-to-11 p. m. shift at the Celanese plant. Mrs. Meister did not report to work and has not been seen since then.

State Police are investigating.

Cab Driver Injured As Car Strikes Truck

The driver, Isaac Clifford Beal, 218 Columbia Street, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital with lacerations of the left hand, and possible arm injuries.

City Police said Beal's cab hit a parked truck operated by Russell E. Emerick, Hyndman, Pa., who was unloading coal at a Columbia Street home. No charges were filed.

Public Schools Begin Christmas Holiday Today

Public schools in Allegany County will begin their Christmas holiday at 1 p. m. today and will not return to classes until Monday morning, January 5.

Catholic schools in Cumberland already are observing their holiday which started last Friday and runs until January 5.

Office To Be Repainted

The supervisory staff and office employes of the Board of Education on Washington Street will have an extended holiday running from 5 p. m. today until Monday morning, January 5. Superintendent Ralph R. Webster explained that while the building is closed the hallways and some rooms will be repainted.

Meanwhile, Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian at the Cumberland Free Public Library reports that her institution will observe a three-day holiday. The library will begin its holiday at 9 o'clock tonight and will remain closed all day Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. It will be open from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m. Saturday.

Court House To Close

The Allegany County Court House will be closed from 4 p. m. Christmas Eve until Monday morning. The Board of County Commissioners and the Orphans Court scheduled sessions yesterday and today so they can hold two this week.

Both United States Department of Agriculture agencies in the Library Annex will work only a three-day week instead of the usual five-day week. Both the Production and Marketing Administration and Soil Conservation Service offices will be closed Thursday and Friday. As a consequence, their holiday will extend from closing time Christmas Eve until Monday morning.

Officer Roscoe Neus Suspended For A Day

Officer Roscoe M. Neus of the City Police Department was suspended for one day by Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn for improperly handling a school crossing at the intersection of Allegany and Greene Streets where Neus was assigned to protect the lives of children using the crossing after school was dismissed.

The policy of having patrolmen assigned to school crossings was inaugurated by Commissioner John J. Long at the beginning of the school term this year for the protection of children using heavily traveled streets and intersections. To date no children have been injured at these patrolled crossings.

Club Decorates County Building

Members of the Allegany High School Senior Poster Club have decorated windows and doorways in the county building on Union Street for the Yule holidays.

"Merry Christmas" is the greeting painted on the front doors of the building.

Members of the club, who helped with the murals and decorations, are Myrna Luman, Dorothy Shanholtz, Barbara Nichols, Mildred McDonald and Charlotte Barham. Mrs. Ethel C. Bruce is the club's advisor.

Yule Shopping Boosts Parking Meter Fees

Heavy holiday shopping is boosting the city's revenue from parking meters.

William H. Buley, meter inspector, reported collections totaled $616.22 the week ending December 14, an increase of $65.65 over the week of December 7.

The income from parking meters represents from three to four cents on the tax rate, based on the $69,000,000 assessments used in setting up the 1952-53 levy.

Notice Ministers

Because of the Christmas Day holiday, church notices of services Sunday for publication on the Saturday church page must be received at The Cumberland News offices by 11 o'clock tonight. Notices cannot be taken over the telephone.

Weather

Weather followed a steady pattern here yesterday. It drizzled most of the day and the temperature varied only a couple of degrees all day. Official figures at Constitution Park listed the high at 39, the low at 37 and the 8 o'clock reading at 38. Precipitation amounted to about .05 inches of rain. Humidity at 8 o'clock was 100 per cent. Apparently more of the same is in store for today. The prediction is for cloudy and cool with rain beginning by noon.

CHURCH NATIVITY SCENE—The recreation of the birth of Christ is beautifully depicted in this Nativity scene which has been erected in front of the Grace Baptist Church, Greene Street. One of the many Christmas decorations throughout the city the scene tells the story of Christ's birth in the manger and the adoration of the shepherds who came to worship him.

3 Die In Car-Truck Crash On U.S. 220

Infant Among Dead In Wreck In Mineral Co.

Two Women Killed; Two Men Injured

Two women and a seven-months-old infant were killed yesterday afternoon when their car skidded and struck a truck on U. S. Route 220 just south of Keyser, W. Va. Two other persons were critically injured.

The dead:

Mrs. Ruth Madeline Hawk, 27, of Scherr, W. Va., believed to have been the driver of the car.

Her only child, William Hawk Jr., seven months.

Miss Mabel B. Reel, 24, of Elk Garden, W. Va., a sister to Mrs. Hawk.

Injured were:

Donald E. Taylor, 22, of Ridgeville, W. Va., who was riding in the car.

Frank D. Criser, 51, Antioch, driver of the truck.

Taylor was in "very critical" condition late last night at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser. Attaches said both had possible skull fractures. Criser's condition was listed as "good."

Car Hit Broadside

West Virginia State Police at Keyser said the accident happened at 2:30 p. m. about a mile south of Keyser near the Boggs Supply Company.

The car, apparently driven by Mrs. Hawk, was traveling south when it skidded and went out of control on the wet pavement as it rounded a bend.

The machine ran up an embankment and careened back onto the road, skidding into the path of Criser's half-ton truck. Police said Criser's truck hit the car broadside as it skidded into his northbound traffic lane.

All three victims apparently were killed outright, according to State Police. The car was knocked off the highway and onto the bank of New Creek.

The Rogers Funeral Home ambulance took the victims to the Keyser hospital, where they were pronounced dead on arrival. All had fractured skulls.

Natives Of Elk Garden

Mrs. Hawk, wife of William Hawk Sr., was a native of Elk Garden. She was born April 3, 1925, the daughter of Mrs. Annie Reel and the late Mr. Reel.

Her husband, who had been working in Detroit, recently returned to Scherr. The couple had no other children.

Mrs. Hawk and Miss Reel are survived, besides their mother, by six brothers, Guy, Roy, Charles and Frank Reel, all of Elk Garden; Martin Reel, Washington, and Lee Reel, stationed with the Army in Colorado, and one sister, Mrs. Howard Knotts of Baltimore.

The bodies of Mrs. Hawk and her son were taken to the Rogers Funeral Home at Blaine, W. Va.

CAR IN WHICH THREE DIED—This 1950 sedan in which three persons were killed yesterday about a mile south of Keyser, W. Va., was virtually demolished after being struck broadside by a half-ton pickup truck on U. S. Route 220. State police identified the dead as Mrs. Ruth Hawk, 27, of Scherr, W. Va.; her sister, Miss Mabel Reel, 25, of Elk Garden, W. Va., and Mrs. Hawk's 7-months-old son, William, Jr. A fourth passenger, Donald R. Taylor, was taken unconscious to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser. Police said the sedan apparently skidded on wet paving and careened into oncoming traffic, was struck by the truck driven by Frank D. Crizer, 51, Antioch, W. Va. Criser was hospitalized with a possible fractured skull.

Crash Survivor Seeks $20,000 In Two Suits

Other Five In Car Died In Accident

James Thompson of Piedmont, W. Va., the sole surviving passenger among six persons who were riding in a car which crashed on McMullen Highway August 31, yesterday filed two suits seeking a total of $20,000 damages in Allegany County Circuit Court.

These latest suits bring to eight, asking a total of $126,000 damages, that have been filed as a result of the tragic accident which took the lives of five Tri-Towns young men. All of the suits have been filed by Attorney Horace P. Whitworth, Jr.

New Jerseyans Named

One $10,000 suit by Thompson named Lewis Howard Allwine and Lewis Thomas Allwine, both of Highland Park, N. J., as defendants. The other $10,000 action was filed against James Moran, administrator of the estate of Richard Moran. Richard Moran was the owner of the car in which Thompson was riding and was one of the five victims of the crash

In the Allwine suit, Thompson states that Lewis Thomas Allwine was the owner of a car which his son, Lewis Howard Allwine was driving along McMullen Highway in the early morning hours of August 31. While south of Cresaptown and traveling toward that community, Allwine pulled off the left side of the highway but left his headlights burning. Thompson's declaration says that the shining headlights apparently confused Timothy Gilmore, who was driving Moran's car toward Rawlings, and a collision resulted.

Owner's Duty Cited

In the other declaration, Thompson states that it was Richard Moran's duty to drive or cause his automobile to be driven in a careful and prudent manner. Nevertheless, Timothy Gilmore, acted as Moran's agent and servant, drove the car at an excessively high and unlawful rate of speed.

Thompson contends that he received serious, dangerous and permanent injuries to his head, body and limbs as a result of the tragic accident and incurred great expenses for hospital service, medical and surgical care.

A $500 suit also was docketed yesterday. John J. Workman, for his own use and the use of Fidelity and Guaranty Insurance Corporation, Baltimore, seeks damages from Joseph Lewis. In the declaration, filed by Attorneys William A. Gunter and William J. Gunter, the plaintiff states that Lewis, while driving east on Main Street in Frostburg, collided with a parked motor vehicle owned by Workman last February 21. Fidelity and Guaranty Insurance Corporation subsequently paid Workman $171.27 for damages to his vehicle.

Kelly-Springfield Co. Denies OPS Violation

Attorneys File Reply To Petition

Kelly-Springfield Tire Company denied in court yesterday that it ever had violated federal ceiling prices for its tires or had refused to allow inspection of its records by the Office of Price Stabilization.

The denials came in answer to a petition by the OPS, which is asking Federal Court at Baltimore to order the company to bring in its records.

OPS spokesmen last week told Judge W. Calvin Chesnut that Kelly-Springfield had denied the federal agency access to certain records. The company was ordered to answer the charges in the OPS petition.

Not Enough Time

Attorneys William C. Walsh of Cumberland and Harrison L. Winter of Baltimore filed the company's answer yesterday, saying the OPS did not grant the company a reasonable length of time in which to comply with a subpoena for its records.

Walsh said the company's answer stated that the company was allowed only three days in which to produce records that could have been compiled only by examining nearly 100,000 invoices.

The attorney said it would have been impossible to find a simpler way in which to give OPS the information it wanted, since OPS had asked for records concerning sales of only certain types of tires.

Arose Last Summer

The dispute, said the company, arose last summer after OPS began investigating sales of certain types of tires by Kelly and other firms to determine if there had been any ceiling price violations.

Walsh said the company was told last Oct. 3 that it would not be required to furnish complete records until its discussions with OPS were completed. The discussions, he said, are still going on.

On December 8, the company served a subpoena requiring Kelly-Springfield to deliver records covering certain sales for more than eight months. The records were to be delivered three days later, by December 11.

The company said it asked for an extension of time, but this request was denied. OPS then went into court to force Kelly to turn over its records.

No date has been set for a hearing in the case.

Hitchcock May Get Full Time Position At Dam

Effect On Smoke Abatement In Doubt

City officials received a proposal yesterday to hire George M. Hitchcock as full time superintendent of the city's water system when his contract as smoke abatement engineer and superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company expires next month.

The plan, proposed by the water company, was explained to the Council yesterday morning by Mayor Roy W. Eves, one of the officials of the Pennsylvania corporation which operates the city's water system at Lake Gordon.

The proposal calls for a one-year renewal of Hitchcock's contract on January 15 at his present salary of $6,500, all of which would be paid by the City Water Department.

Agrees To Plan

The water company now pays $4,000 for the position of superintendent of the water plant and the city adds $2,500 for Hitchcock's work as smoke abatement engineer.

Mayor Eves said Hitchcock has agreed to the plan which would allow him to devote his full time supervising the city's water system.

The position was a full time job until 1947, when the city offered Hitchcock both jobs as an incentive, since it was necessary to secure a qualified engineer to operate the water system.

It was indicated that action on the proposal may be taken at Monday's council meeting.

There were indications yesterday that, had a vote been taken immediately, the proposal would have been accepted.

Want Full Details

But Commissioners Lucile W. Roeder and John J. Long questioned the effect of the move on the Smoke Abatement Department.

They said they wanted to secure full particulars on the smoke program before a vote is taken.

Under consideration for some time has been a plan to turn the smoke engineer's duties over to Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, when Hitchcock is given a full time position at Lake Gordon.

The other member of the Smoke Abatement Department, Charles Owens, deputy smoke inspector, has a one-year contract which expires in February.

Under the plan which would turn the smoke engineer's duties over to the city engineer, Owens would be retained in his present duties.

Local 26 Calls Conferences On Pact Revision

Special meetings have been scheduled by Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastics Workers of America (CIO), to plan proposed changes in the local's contract with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

William G. Rice, president, said the first of the meetings will be held Sunday, December 28, at 6 p. m. in the TWUA-CIO hall.

This meeting will be for members of Division I to IV inclusive.

The second meeting, planned in the TWUA hall on January 4 at 6 p. m., will be for members of Divisions 5, 6 and 7.

The present pact with the tire company is slated to expire on March 1.

Recommendations made at the meetings will be turned over to the Contract Negotiation committee. Members are C. E. O'Baker and Ralph C. Beard, for production workers; Leo Barkman and George Simmons, for maintenance, and Rice, who as president is a member of the committee.

CHURCH NATIVITY SCENE—The recreation of the birth of Christ is beautifully depicted in this Nativity scene which has been erected in front of the Grace Baptist Church, Greene Street. One of the many Christmas decorations throughout the city the scene tells the story of Christ's birth in the manger and the adoration of the shepherds who came to worship him.
